Yaum: Good evening to you, my friends.

With your permission I shall be happy to spend a few moments with you. I would like to extend to each of you my blessings. And to our new friend here I would like to extend a special greeting and welcome to you.

Since there are so few of you, would you like to have a little friendly chat? Is that what you call it—chat? So you start the chat, will you? Do not be nervous because of me, for I am no different than the rest of you. I am just a being, learning, experiencing, loving, the same as you are, so come forth with your pearls of wisdom so that I might learn something.

Questioner: Why do the men's teachers speak more often than those of the women?

Yaum: This is strictly a matter of decision by the teachers themselves. They decide when they wish to speak to you. I do not know what their reason might be.

Questioner: I wondered if women are not important enough.

Yaum: My dear, no one is more important than another. The gender has nothing to do with it, whatsoever. Perhaps in the next lifetime you might be of the positive gender. This does not especially mean anything in this lifetime, if you are male or female.

Questioner: Is it true that women are more intuitive than men?

Yaum: Perhaps they are somewhat more, because it is the nature of the female or negative expression (physical) to cultivate somewhat of a mother nature, shall we say? It is something that nature instills in the negative expression of your physical body, and this extends into the animal world also. It is necessary because the negative is the one responsible for the young, and in this function it is necessary for them to have this intuitive ability more. However, it can be developed in the male expression as well, but they do not feel the need for it, so they do not develop it, although some of them do.

Questioner: Will you discuss the reason why many of us, who want to serve and are seeking to grow spiritually also, are having so many problems in health, finances, etc.?

Yaum: These things are results of past thinking. Every person creates their own world. Whether they want to be or not, they are creators. We create our own situations, surroundings. The conditions that we find ourselves in today are a result of past thinking. That is why it is so necessary, so very, very necessary to weed these things out of what you call the subconscious, and keep replacing them with things that we must. You see, my friends, this is what has happened. As you are brought up through the civilization, you are taught to believe in certain things.

You are taught that ill health, lack of supply, were a part of the things that you must face, a danger that you have to avoid, but that you were very apt to have it. And in case you have it there is nothing that you can do about it. It is something that has come to you from nowhere, and you can do nothing about it. But you see, my friends, this is not so, for your subconscious is what controls your environment. It is what you put into the subconscious that will bring back to you the same. This works through the Law of the Universe.

Questioner: Did we put some of these thoughts into our subconscious in our former lives?

Yaum: Perhaps so, but not necessarily. Could be, but not necessarily, for if in this life, if you were from childhood, taught to use the Law, the Law of Creation as it is, if you were taught how it functions, and you were to use it in the right way to bring to you that which is for your good, you would have had none of these things. To a degree one incarnates with certain characteristics, emotional patterns, but these things can be overcome very easily, if, at an early age, as the mind develops, the right things can be fed into the subconscious. This would overcome anything that you had brought with you.

Any karma, could have been overcome in a much easier way. But if these people had been taught right in the beginning, that this could be overcome—through their own thinking, overcome this karma, they would have created a new situation that perhaps the karma could have been met in a much easier way. The subconscious is not a respecter of good or bad, or evil as you call it. It knows no good or evil. It only reacts to the law.

Questioner: Is it possible to remember a person from past experiences?

Yaum: Yes, I would say it would be possible. It would depend greatly on the awareness of the person involved, but just because you feel attracted to a person, does not necessarily mean it has been a close relationship in another lifetime.

Questioner: Then how do you account for the attraction?

Yaum: Attraction can be due to many things. Certain personalities attract each other. Anywhere you were to go on this planet, certain persons you would be attracted to, others you would not. This does not mean you have spent other lifetimes with them. However, through many, many lifetimes on this plane of life and other planes, you have met and associated with thousands of people. Some are attracted together perhaps through several lifetimes, then not some together for several more lifetimes, or perhaps in your time for thousands of years. Time is eternal, it has no beginning, no end, in reality there is no time. So a thousand years are nothing. Many lives cross, cross over eons of time.

Sometimes they become very closely entwined for some period of time, and due to soul growth, they drift farther and farther apart with no more common interests, and then they find someone else.

Questioner: Why does one feel a great concern and responsibility for someone at first meeting?

Yaum: Why do people fall in love? There again, is a strong attraction two people who feel they cannot live without each other, and yet, years later, they cannot stand each other.

Questioner: Can two people be attracted and marry in order to do certain work together?

Yaum: Here, too, friends, there are so many things that enter into association. There are times when certain ones incarnate into this life time to work together, to do a certain service. This is arranged that two people will come together to either do some particular service or job. There are certain experiences that might be needed by each of them that can only be had in this way, or this could be a karma thing, too, or there is a certain karma that two people need to work out together. Many, many things could enter into it. Then again, a feeling of responsibility. Certain people sometimes, through certain conditions, find themselves attracted to someone, and they suddenly take on a feeling of responsibility towards this person and want to do something for them and help them. They have a feeling for them, yet find it difficult to fulfill just what they would like to do. Sometimes the other person does not respond to their help or consideration, and as the other person does not respond, it seems to automatically, in the person who wants to help them, increase the urge for them to do it. They keep trying harder and harder, yet, do not seem to understand why the other person does not respond. This is a working of minds and sometimes the minds can do very strange things.

Very strange things can happen. Very little is understood by your people about the mind. Mind is tricky. When people dwell on things, they are concentrating their minds on certain things, doing certain things or trying to accomplish a certain thing. When suddenly, just like that, a strange thing will happen. The mind has created something for you, an experience that seems to you as real as if it actually happened yet, it was nothing more than a trick of the mind. Many of your people are fooled many times by the mind, so it behooves to be somewhat careful in what you allow your mind to dwell on. That is why it is good to always keep positive. Think only of those things which are good, and the things that are righteous.

Questioner: Isn't it natural to want love and understanding from another and pour out your love to another?

Yaum: Yes, this is true, but the big trouble with Earthman is that he gets his mind all mixed up between real love and emotion, and he must control emotions. He must learn to distinguish between love and emotion. Emotion is a desire. Love is a state of consciousness where you realize a state of a oneness with creation and all mankind, and you see all mankind in a consciousness of love. Not a possessive love, nothing to do with sex, not a state of desiring, but a state of giving. A wanting for another that which is for the highest good and rejoicing in them receiving but no thought for self.

For "I am the least among you." Do you see what your great teacher meant when he said that. When he washed the feet of his disciples? This was a demonstration of symbolizing love. This is love, my friends, but this is not emotion. There is nothing wrong with what you call love, which binds two people together in marriage. Love for children, this is also beautiful, providing it is done in the right way. It can be diabolical too—so much for love.

Now, my friends, I would like a few of your pearls of wisdom.

Questioner: Could you tell us anything of your work or activities?

Yaum: My work is so slight in the great field of giving that it would not even be noticed, but if each of us do our part, it can bring great results. This, my friends, is needed upon this planet today. Most of your people think only of themselves. They say, "What is good for me? How much can I get for myself," not, "How much can I give? How much can I do for the good of others?"

It is true, my friends, there are a few, but the numbers are so small. If only half or less than half of your people would begin to take the attitude of giving and serving of time to establish a Brotherhood of Mankind and try to understand a neighbor, the situation upon your planet would change rapidly. But, instead, you find yourselves faced more and more each day with a threat of destruction of a great planet, a beautiful planet and its people. It is difficult to understand how a people could follow a pattern of this kind when the right path is so obvious. Don't you agree with me, my friends?

Is it not obvious many of your people, your leaders talk about these things? But no one seems to accomplish much, for not enough people realize or want to wake up and come out of their state of hypnosis. They are living in a state of hypnosis; they are hypnotized.

Well, my friends, this has been my good pleasure, so with your permission I shall withdraw. Thank you for accepting me in your midst and discussing your problems with me. If I have been of any help to you, I am grateful.

I like to extend to each of you my very deepest love and blessings, and may each of you in your seeking come into a realization of the very great importance of reaching a state of understanding with your fellow beings.

Go in Peace, my friends.

Goodnight to you. ☸
