Oxal: Greetings in the Light, my friends. I am Oxal.

You will recall in the early days of our contact with you, we mentioned quite frequently that man of Earth is faced with a choice and that he must make this choice. There are two ways to go and man must choose his way.

As we observe your planet at this time, it is very evident to us that the effect of this choice is very obvious among your people. There is a great struggle taking place between the forces of Light and the forces of Darkness. Each is exerting its influences upon Earth people. These influences have increased as time has passed and this is one of the reasons that you see so much violence and confusion among Earth people.

Many are not conscious of the fact that they are trying to make a choice, yet their souls are aware, and within them a subconscious struggle is going on. You will recall the story that was related in your book of religious history that you call your Holy Book, when the Master Jesus was taken by the demons to the mountain top and was shown the glistening cities, the great pleasures of Earth, the materialistic advantages, and was told that these would all be His if He would just bow down to them.

This is symbolic of the choice that all men must make. All mankind must make this choice at one time or another. He must choose to serve materialism or he must choose to serve Spirit. This is the choice that must be made. Long has man of Earth served the materialistic. He has become a slave to it, and it is difficult to release the old and step into the new.

Men of Earth wonder why the turmoil and violence has been gradually increasing in recent times, and why people who have not shown violent tendencies before are now developing them. It is that inner struggle that is going on within man, a struggle between the spiritual and the materialistic. The influences that are brought to bear by the two forces of Light and Darkness are bringing man to the realization, however gradual, that a choice must be made.

The intensity of the struggle depends upon the tendency of the individual. Those with greater tendencies toward the Spiritual or the Light are not affected as much by the darker influences. Yet, many of these are clinging to the old and are finding it very difficult to come to the realization of what this choice really is.

To quote your great Master again, "You cannot serve two masters." How true this is! Seek ye first the Kingdom and all its righteousness and all these things shall be added.

Your religious organizations give lip service to these things but they do not practice them. Many of these things which cut across their way of life are touched on very lightly. Little is said about these things. But, in the times to come, men of Earth, those who stay with Earth and go into her new era of teaching and of living will really begin to understand these things and the importance of them, for man must learn to live by new standards. The old must pass away and the new will take over.

So, my friends, do not try to cling to the old ways, but make yourself open and receptive to the new. For if you do this you will come into a new and greater life, a more joyous life, one of peace, of love, of wisdom and understanding.

What greater wealth can man possess than wisdom for when you have wisdom you have it all. All things are in balance. Your wants and your needs are all met when they are needed. You will take no thought for the morrow. You will never be anxious about the morrow.

Your great Avatar of this Age tried to teach all of these things. They are all in the writings of His teachings, yet, man has overlooked these things. He has not followed them. He has allowed himself to continually be guided by influences that are not interested in his highest good.

The choices are being made and as a result of these choices, the goats will be separated from the sheep. The shepherd will lead the lambs into the New Age, where they will receive the teachings of the Ancient Writings of Wisdom.

I will leave you with these thoughts, and in leaving I extend to each of you, the love, the light, and the understanding of my people.
