These lectures are not of a religious nature but rather deal with the science of human potential and evolution. This document is a direct transcription from the original recording. Although it has been checked for obvious errors, it has not been finally edited.*

Clyde: There were several Teachers conducting this class and it was about the use of cosmic energies. It was quite technical and complicated. In the conscious state it would be beyond my comprehension as we grasp things in the sleep state that we cannot in the conscious state.

Most of these classes are refresher courses as we have known these things at one time or another down through the ages. In the New Age it is planned that this civilization will be built faster than others have, so the knowledge is given now to be triggered at the time when it is needed.

The Teachers emphasized how wrong we are in using atomic energy as there are many other right sources that are available and known. But since they are not as profitable they are not allowed to be developed. The harnessing of the tides would be a good source of electrical power. It would be less costly without the danger of radioactive material. Also cosmic energy is the cheapest source of power, without wires and so forth.

Pyramids were used for power in ancient times as other civilizations have developed various sources of power that were lost with the civilizations. There have been many big changes down through time on our planet. At one time there weren't any mountains. Some of the civilizations date back way over 200,000 years when it was mountain-less. It could take thousands of years for man to be developed enough to be called a civilization. Through natural evolutionary changes, the surface was changed by volcanic eruptions, causing mountains to rise and other parts to go down. In many places water rushed in, destroying the civilization. That is why evidence of sea life is found on mountain tops. The first civilization is known to us as Mu, the Motherland.

There are records of this civilization that have been found by archeologists and they have found certain symbols that have come down from Mu. These records and laws of the first civilization are preserved in certain places but are not available to all. There are certain ones that have been in charge of them down through the ages. However, some of these records have been destroyed.

There have been civilizations on this planet that were not in the physical. ✿
