Samuel: Greetings to you my beloved children. I am Samuel.

I should like to greet our old friend here especially tonight and welcome him to our midst. It is my pleasure to again be in your presence although I have been in your presence other times perhaps you were not aware of. We do still visit those of you there in Detroit at times and try to be of some service to you in your work, but, of course, you were not aware of our being there. I am sure you are aware of a presence many times but you would not be aware of who the presence might be.

Now I perceive that you have some questions and since your hour is getting late, we shall immediately go into this and I shall try to answer your questions to the best of my ability and the short time that we have, so will you proceed with your questions in the sequence that you desire.

Questioner: We have been discussing this evening and I've been wondering deeply about the nature of the world of Protoplast, how it impinges upon our lives?

Samuel: Perhaps this might be a little difficult to explain to you but you are familiar with the seven levels of creation I gather?

Questioner: Yes.

Each of these planes is a plane of life or intelligence or energy. The terminology is not of too great an importance, but as you know, man was given dominion over the five planes. Man in his creation, is only slightly lower than the angel vibration, and as you know, man was given will, free will, and man's will was strong. But his will became weaker, and as his will became weaker, he began to vibrate slower and slower, and as he came down, all of the planes of which he was given dominion over came down in vibration with him. And eventually of course, he reached the plane that man now finds himself in. And thus, he had to find a new source of energy to sustain this lower vibratory state in which he found himself. And this, of course, was the beginning of the survival of the fittest. Thus, man began to use the animal and the plant for his source of energy, and plant derived its source from the earth and Earth from the Protoplast. The Protoplast is a form of intelligent or intelligence, yet it is also of form of energy. It is a substance, yet it is also an intelligence even as your earth is. Your Earth, also is a of form of intelligence as is the plant and the animal, and man, each vibrating at a different rate. The Protoplast is a finer form of substance and energy, which cannot be seen by the physical eye. It can only be seen by the eye of the Soul. Yet it is there and it is the source of energy that sustains the Earth upon which you live. Without this your Earth would not function on the plane of vibration that it is now functioning in. Does this clarify to you anything?

Questioner: Yes, it's much clearer.

Samuel: It is difficult to try to explain it in a more understandable terminology, for this is really what it is. It is a form of intelligence which I know for you is hard to visualize. Is this not so?

Questioner: I conceive of this in best sense that I conceive of the earth.

Samuel: And yet it is also an energy because it is the energy and the substance that supplies your earth.

Questioner: What is the mechanism of this supply? Is it through the nucleus of each form of substance as we think of the atomic structure? Does it enter in that sense? Is there a dimensional change of energy in the nucleus of every element form that exists or is it a more field type thing which superimposes and surrounds and supports?

Samuel: It is, perhaps you could say, a form of nuclear energy in that it contains what you call neutrons and electrons. It is a form of, I guess what you would call an electrical energy or an atomic energy.

Questioner: Is it superimposed around all earth, all earth substance in order for Earth substance to manifest?

Samuel: It does surround your earth, yes. It is an energy that feeds in from all sides.

Questioner: I understand this because the life force of man surrounds the body.

Samuel: Yes, and it forms, you might call it, an etheric envelope or field around your planet which allows life to exist upon the planet, gives the planet the energy that it needs to produce what is needed for the life upon it. If it were not for this, your planet vibrating at the rate that it is now would not be able to sustain any form of life here. Your plant life would not thrive upon the planet without this because it is this energy working through the planet that supplies. But, you see, before these various life forms came down into this vibration, they were supplied, each one on its own plane by a special energy that was provided in the creation. But in order to use this particular energy for sustenance, it had to be vibrating at the proper rate of vibration. But, as it came down the vibration lowered, slowed, then you see it had to find another so then one started feeding from the other and it goes right down the line you see.

Questioner: Does this, also then, become the finer substance which we talk about in what we term the etheric realms, discarnate realms, I guess I should put it that way?

Samuel: No, this is not. This has more to do with man himself. These are energy fields that man has built himself, has created himself. Man created the soul himself and he created the physical body himself as he gradually lowered his vibration, but this is not the same as the Protoplast. This is another level of energy.

Questioner: Is this harmed by our experiments with the atom bomb?

Samuel: Yes, it has some effect upon it, but mostly the effect is in the gaseous layers around your earth. The protective gases. But this energy also has to do with the forming of the protective layers around your planet and in that way it is affected by your ...

Questioner: Physical substance, then in some sense must have its counterparts in these energy fields. What I'm trying to touch on is does it have the variety of expression that we find in the realm of Earth?

Samuel: Not in the same manner. It has its own, but it would be in a different form you see, just as man has his expression and plant and animal have their expression, you see. Each has its own individual form of expression but each does maintain an intelligence although it is not the same level of intelligence, the same type of intelligence. In other words a plant has a form of intelligence but it is not the same as the animal. The animal has a little higher form of intelligence and man has still a higher form you see, although sometimes it is doubtful.

Questioner: This in no way could be like what we term ectoplasm?

Samuel: No, ectoplasm is more of an energy created by man himself. It is drawn from man. This is created by the body and can be drawn off. It is a form of energy that man creates.

Questioner: I couldn't find Protoplast in our dictionary.

Questioner: As we view the physical world about beyond our on Earth, the other stars and systems are all of these in the state which has to be supported by Protoplast, the fallen state, or are there all gradations of realms we view?

Samuel: Not all, some have and some where man has evolved to the point where he no longer needs to depend on the lower life for sustenance. As man gets back so far on his road of evolution, he again is able to draw his sustenance from ...

Questioner: Comment: his true source?

Samuel: Yes, the ethers, the God-source. Of course, these are all steps and they are gradual steps. In His house are many mansions.

Questioner: Oh that's just beautiful, I understand it.

Samuel: So, as you grow in evolution, your vibrations are gradually coming up you see, and as you reach the certain points in evolution, your whole character and characters change. Your physical body becomes a higher refined body. As you go into your new age, Earth man will be a much different species of man. That is, after the age is in full swing and man has really taken his place. This is going to take some time you see, to make the transition from one age to another. There is an overlap here and as you move into the other one, it will gradually begin to change and as the old man passes on, and the new one comes in, he will be of a much higher vibration.

Questioner: These then are ... the vibration fields of life that man enters into then, is really the reason or the source of the root race concept?

Samuel: Yes, but man will not go into that until he is ready for it. That's why there must be a cleaning of and a sorting of the wheat from the chaff because only the wheat will be able to move into the new vibration. They couldn't live comfortably in that vibration you see. It would not be suitable for them so they will have to reincarnate in an environment suitable to their vibration and their state of evolution.

Questioner: The new vibration will bring about a change in the physical body?

Samuel: Yes, man in this new age will have much greater brain capacity. Not so much a greater capacity but he will know -how to use the brain that he has. He will use—where now he uses 10 or 12%, which of course, will vary with the individuals—but he will be able to use a much greater brain capacity than he is now able to use.

Questioner: Along this same line of energy source in man, one new teaching I touched on indicated that man was, in his spirit form even, is a breath being. He breathes the solar energy or solar fire in the higher states of consciousness and when he expresses in the physical world, he breathes the prana along with the oxygen to operate the physical body. Do you have any comment in that sense?

Samuel: Of course Pure spirit is a much different thing than a physical being or a soul being. Man, must in any form, have a source of energy supply to keep him going so to speak. So perhaps you could say that he breathes his energy because pure spirit does not feed on food as you know it. They do not require ... they live on the energy that was created for their plane of existence, the same as we were talking about awhile ago. Now, to say he breathes or he eats ...

Questioner: Not terribly applicable, I guess.

Samuel: No, I should say at my level of understanding, and I do not claim to be all wise, that far in advance, I would say perhaps he just absorbs it as it is needed, but this would only be my concept.

Questioner: We have an excerpt here from one of the talks that came through, I guess from Yaum sometime back, talking about magnetism. There's one point in it that we felt some confusion about. I'll just read briefly this little excerpt. He says, "Attempt to attract this. As you do this in your own actions and thinking, outer influences move in to help. Like attracts like, and the opposite repels. This is not only true in magnetism, as you know it in your life. You are a magnet and you function much the same. Like poles attract like, opposites repel. It is well to be aware of these things but never fearful." The point is in our understanding of physical or elliptical magnetism, we say that opposites attract. We were discussing the point that mutual things seem to attract each other such as families of creatures dwell together normally and so on. People of the same vibration are drawn to each other, but the understanding of what we're saying in a physical sense is a little confusing to us. He may be aiming at something deeper than we see. That's what we're wondering.

Samuel: I see your point. I do not know just what Yaum had in mind when he made this statement, but it would seem to me that he was referring to what you refer to as animal magnetism or magnetism as it is created by man or animal. There is a magnetic attraction here, as you are well aware of. You have no doubt many times felt yourself just pulled toward another person, and this is a person of like mind where you have a bond of some kind which draws you together. And this is a form of magnetism. However, man in your science world, has yet considerable to discover about magnetism, and I do not claim to be an expert in this field. This is a little far afield of my specialty but I do know my brother Yaum very well and he, expressing in the physical as he is, I know he has some difficulty at times and especially with your language in translating and without realizing, he may have made some error here in the translation, not meaning, perhaps, to refer to magnetism as you are thinking of.

Questioner: I thought there might be some deeper meaning to it that I wasn't getting. I wasn't trying to be picayune about it.

Samuel: But I'm sure that he was speaking here of the magnetic field between people and this is considered like poles, at least in our concept of it, where two of a positive are attracted together and two of a negative are attracted together because this happens, you will find, in the animal kingdom. Animals of like are drawn together. They do not mix. And this is a form of magnetism that draws them together because like is attracting like.

Questioner: In this instance are you speaking of, if you are seeking peace of mind, wisdom, and understanding in your lives, attempting to attract this and as you do this, by your own action and thinking, the outer influences move in to help you? So are you speaking of it on a thought level?

Samuel: Yes, you will attract people of like mind. You will attract the like, and you will repel the ones who do not ...

Questioner: Not comfortable in their presence.

Samuel: Same with those of lower thoughts. For instance, the alcoholic will attract the alcoholic, be drawn together, and those of other natures. So it is a like attracting a like and this is a different form of magnetism. There is a definite field of energy here, of magnetic energy that draws these people together.

Questioner: It acts on others of the same vibration?

Samuel: Yes, so perhaps, I cannot say definitely because I do not know exactly what he had in mind there, but it would sound to me, and I would rather think that this is what he was speaking of, and perhaps, in making this comparison he may have erred some maybe in the translation. I know his field is not a scientific field and its altogether possible that without thinking ... I'm sure he knew what you are talking about with your magnets, how your like poles repel and unlike poles attract. I'm sure he knows this but unthinkingly, he may have made this statement with something else in mind. I would have to ask him to really know.

Questioner: That explains it. Certainly it's just a minor thing. I thought there might be something there that was useful.

Samuel: Well, we sometimes, when we get a little off from our field, can make an error of any kind. We are not as infallible as we would like to be.

Questioner: Were you with us in our group back in Detroit when Baird and we were meditating together?

Samuel: Oh yes. I spoke to you many times back there.

Questioner: Were you our new Special ...

(Laughter)

Questioner: I ask to withdraw that question.

Samuel: I don't know if I was your new Special or your old Special. I know you used to refer to me as some kind of Special which is why ...

Questioner: All, I was wondering because we had a Special in Detroit.

Samuel: You had Special 1 and Special 2, didn't you?

Questioner: we now have Samuel and Zalhém thanks to you.

Samuel: I think you called him Special 1 and ...

Questioner: You were Special 1 and he was Special 2.

Samuel: Anyhow, that's why we gave you identification.

Questioner: Yes and I appreciate that very much and you were Special too and too.

Samuel: Now if you have another question, I shall try to ...

Questioner: One area, I don't know if you would care to discuss it or not, this kind of fits in the area of perhaps abstraction because it's not our immediate problem but we were talking about the nature of the divisions of the polarity of male and female and whether when spirit man was originally created, was there polarity associated with it. Our genesis would so indicate, or did this take place only in the realm of soul or did it take place in both places?

Samuel: Well, according to my understanding, we have polarity throughout the universe. It functions on polarity, on the positive and negative polarity. We have to have this to function and this, of course, comes down clear to the physical. Not being pure spirit, as yet, I can only give you my concept. There, as far as I know, exists polarity in the world or the plane ...

I must leave you now. I ask that the blessings of all the great ones be bestowed upon you.

Peace be with you, beloved, peace, peace. ☸
