Samuel: Greetings to you, my children, I am Samuel.

I will spend a few moments with you tonight as there are a few things that I would like to bring to your attention.

I know that too many it is quite discouraging when you look at the overall picture of overcoming all of the tests on the path of liberation. But we do not wish to lead anyone to something unless they are aware of what they are being led to.

Now you understand that the point in time at which you stand now you are being given the opportunity to prepare for the path of liberation and the first steps of initiation. In looking from where you stand now perhaps it looks impossible, but you must realize that when you have reached that point of entering you will have done much overcoming and will be a much stronger individual.

Although the path of liberation may still look very harsh and difficult, if you have the sincere desire of liberation, you will have the courage to take the step. At that point you will not be urged or pressured in any way. It will be entirely your decision as to whether you want to proceed from that point.

So perhaps sometimes we try to cross our bridges long before we approach them.

So I say to you, if you are sincere and wish to be liberated from the false, dark surroundings that you now find yourself in, be of good cheer and know that the time has come and that you will have the strength and the courage to proceed step by step.

And if you continually keep your trust in the Great Spirit of Creation, that one and only Power that sustains all things and all life, you will emerge triumphant and the rewards, you will find, will be worth all of the efforts, all of the trials and much more. You will be happy and elated that you took the step—and as you look back you will say, “It was worth every step that I took and much more.”

May each of you find courage, strength and wisdom.
May your progress go well.

May the blessings and peace of all the Great Ones be invoked upon each of you now.

Go in peace, beloved friends, go in peace, ☸
