Teacher: Peace be with you, my Friends, peace be with you.

Events, as you have been told, are moving onward, I wonder if all of you are aware of the increase in frequency of the cataclysmic events and of the increase in their intensity. I am sure you are, today's event is but another incident in the chain. But what concerns us most, my friends, is the very slow development of Earth man in his attempt to lighten the burdens that are ahead, and this could be done if man would just awaken, would open his eyes and realize the task that lies before him.

The events of the past few days of your world leaders and their attempt (yes, I would not even say attempt) in their camouflage of attempting to bring about an understanding between them. They have brought about a great confusion among Earth people. In reality this was merely a camouflage to bring about events that will help bolster the economy of your planet, for through the events that have taken place between your two great powers, there shall be much propaganda distributed which will cause and especially in your country, great amounts of money to be spent, or rather it will be an excuse to spend greater amounts on what is called "defense for freedom."

Oh, my friends, if you could but see from our vantage point the conniving that goes on behind the scenes by those who hold the reins of power upon your planet, you would be appalled. And this, my friends, this power is a power of reign that encircles your planet. This power reaches into every phase of your life and extends deeply into your religious organizations. This power, a great deal of it, is held in the hands of what is camouflaged as religion.

I say to Earth people, you cannot continually prepare for war without eventually facing it, but today these great powers face a problem which has them somewhat disturbed, for they find themselves holding in their hands power that even frightens them. And I tell you, my friends, they are much more worried than you realize, for even they know that once this power is released, it will be out of their hands, that they will no longer be able to control it.

So you see, beloved friends, a great problem faces planet Earth today.

A small handful of power-greedy individuals are faced with the problem of attempting to carry on a false economy, which in the past has been kept in motion through the sacrifice of lives of the people; so they face a rather difficult problem, because they too know that this preparation cannot continue indefinitely without bringing about that which it was created for.

So they attempt continually to bring about situations of a milder form, in order to maintain the power they so dearly love.

But soon, my friends, this must come to an end. The handwriting is on the wall, so to speak, but whether Earth man chooses to do an about face or not, planet Earth is still destined for cleansing, man of Earth can aid greatly in this cleansing if he will but do so and in turn save himself a lot of suffering. It is his choice, but the event is inevitable. Yet as individuals, each shall receive his just reward, and to those of you who choose the path of service to your fellow man, the path of love ye need have no concern, for yours will be a great reward. You who choose this path will be the ones to help bring into being the new Age of peace, of love and of justice to all.

So let each of us remember the laws that have been laid down for us. Let us love one another, let us serve our creator in love, let us be forgiving, let us be just in all that we do. Yet, let us be discerning, let us know the path we are following, let us pray always for wisdom in our doing. Let us realize who and what we are, for when we realize our nothingness in the great vast sea of consciousness, then we are becoming somewhat conscious of who and what we are.

Let us analyze each of our experiences honestly and fairly, so that we might learn by them, for no experience need come but once, if we have learned that which it was meant for. Let us attempt to recognize within ourselves our weaknesses not as weaknesses but as something to grow by, for as we overcome, we are strengthened and through strength we grow. There is a great difference between condemning oneself and constructively analyzing and criticizing oneself. So let us analyze and yet maintain our respect for ourselves, realizing that this is only a strengthening process.

Now, beloved friends, I must leave you. I am not going to announce myself, in other words I am going to let you have a little guessing game again, and your instrument will know.

Blessings, my friends. May the creator pour into the hearts of you great love and understanding. May all the great Masters pour their blessings out upon you, that your hearts might be filled to overflowing.

Peace be with you, my friends, peace be with you. ☸
