Teacher: Peace, Peace, Peace.

Beloved friends, children, listen to the small voice within thee as it saith unto thee, "Let not thy hearts be troubled, neither let them be afraid, for lo, I am with thee always. I am the way, the light and the truth. Thou wilt only cometh into the understanding of Light and Truth through Me, for I am thee and thou art me. I dwell within thee and am thy life-source. I am crying to become more of thee and thou more of me. I cry out to thee and thou thee, and thou hearest me not. Thou seekest for me in many places other than within thee, yet thou findest me not and thou will findest me nowhere but within thee. These things that are good, these things that are right and Just, these things that are of a holy nature, these things that are beautiful and these things that are of good report, thinkest thou upon these things. For these things are as a clearing house to the mind of man. Man findeth himself thinking upon things that are of the opposite, making it more difficult for him or her to find me. Men have spent lifetime after lifetime searching to know me, not realizing that I am there within, ready to be found at any moment.

There is a great search goes on by man to find peace and serenity and man searcheth wide and far, not realizing that the only place this shall be found is within thy own being for here is where I dwell. Learn to know me as I know thee and peace will be assured in thy heart."

Beloved ones, I have merely been attempting to bring to thee the realization of thy own great self. As we travel the pathway of life, experiencing the things that are necessary to bring understanding to our hearts and minds, we often develop many scars, many wounds of the ego, of the heart, but when man attempts to realize the indwelling powers and wisdom that lie within and attempts to apply the true Truth teachings, we find we begin to gain a better understanding, a better realization of life.

We must, in our realization of Truth, realize that all persons are of the same origin, or as you would say, are God's children, growing and expressing each in his own or her own way. And many times it is difficult to realize these things, it is difficult to apply the rules which we all so well know when we feel that we are being put upon or we feel that we are being unjustly treated; or being called upon to make unjust sacrifices. But we find as we begin to apply the laws of Truth—and as your great Teacher of the Christian religion taught his people, "To agree with thine adversaries, to pray for those who spitefully use thee, to turn the other cheek and go the extra mile"—we often find these things are very difficult to do without crushing the ego.

We find that we would often much rather that the other would conform to our ideals and our ideas of life, that they would agree in principle with us in all ways and carry on as to what we believe to be the proper standards. Yet it does not work this way for us, we find that the other goes his merry way doing according to his own feeling and dictates which we often know is wrong by Truth standards. Yet we must realize that perhaps, what this one or that one is doing is necessary for their growth or experience and we can only help by dropping seed. And our greatest way to help anyone is by example, by our own living and demonstrating of the Truth principles which we know. For he who has found peace and joy within himself becomes a great monument, a great envy of those who have not yet found this, for he or she radiates such great Light, such great joy, such great peace that all who observe are touched by this and those about are automatically raised to a higher level of understanding and Truth.

Too often Earth People seek their joy, their peace, their happiness in others, and beloved friends, beloved children, beloved daughter, they are not found in others, for true peace, true love, true joy is only found through knowing and realizing thyself, discovering that inner person, inner man and allowing the God-part to blossom forth to become a true child of God. For each of us, each of us, are that child. It requires only discovering it and this can be done only by true self-searching, true self-sacrifice, as you would call it, true realization of self. For when true realization of self is found, self as you know it has disappeared.

And now, beloved, perhaps I have expounded enough and if it is your pleasure I should attempt to answer questions that might be within your understanding. Thou has questions, but thou art reluctant to ask. It is difficult in your vibration and I speak not personally, but in the vibration in which you live and have your being and at the level of Truth and understanding in which most of your people are journeying, to realize the importance of any of these things. Environment makes it more difficult but, if the realization of one's Self can be reached and the realization that one finds only true peace by finding one's Self, a great step forward has been taken. For then one will realize that many situations which will arise in their life or lifetimes, are brought about by karmic situations and they will see more clearly that these situations met with an understanding of the laws of Truth, can be much more rapidly dispensed with or perhaps, eliminated entirely without discomfort or distress. It is difficult with the understanding that man has in general to eliminate self in his decisions in life. I do not imply that one does not consider oneself, but in complete realization of the function of the laws, one can place the valuation of effect on Self in many things that he does.

The realization of one's Self does not come without effort, without trial and it requires time and it also requires effort and the elimination of hate, of greed, of resentment and an about-face in our thinking. It requires for one to take a new look at life and at the life that surrounds us, to begin to see it in a new light, to see into reality, to heal old wounds, and old wounds do not heal by prodding them, by breaking them open. When one receives a wound of the flesh, one does not irritate and probe it, but one allows it to heal. And so are wounds of the soul and of the ego, they must be allowed to heal, and they will only heal by treatment of love and joy. Resentment and hate is not a salve that will heal wounds of this type, but rather will irritate and prevent the healing.

We think these things are difficult to do, but yet as we begin to practice, to make the change necessary, we find that it is not as difficult as it seemed, for we have made a decision, we have made a decision to move on a new path.

It is my sincere hope that I have been of some help in bringing to you a realization of thy true being. I hope that what I have said does not bring disturbance to thee, for my love for thee, my desires for thee are deep, great. I would that we could do more for those of you who are searching, but we are limited by your progress and your willingness to receive. This is not realized by most of ye, but the desire and the efforts of each individual enhances our ability to help in your progress.

I would like you to ponder these things that I have said, take them into thy heart and perhaps a realization of the greatness of thyself and, the importance of the laws will come to thee and thou wilt be able to grasp and use these things to the benefit of thy own understanding and the understanding of others.

Now if thou hast no further questions thou would like to ask?

Questioner: No.

Teacher: I should like in leaving to place upon you, your household, your kin, my deepest and most sincere blessings:

May the blessings of the Great Masters that rule the Universe, be bestowed upon thee. I ask and request this blessing with all my heart and with my most sincere belief. Send forth now Thy blessing, Thy power, Thy wisdom, that these here gathered might receive this.

So be it!

Peace my beloved ones, peace, peace, joy and understanding.

I go. ✿
