Yaum: Good evening to you, my friends.

I wish to extend to the heads of this household my special greetings and thanks for accepting me into your household. To my other friends here I wish to extend a special greeting and to our new friends here I extend my special greetings and my love.

Now what would you like to talk about?

Questioner: How can we learn to use more of nature's energies?

Yaum: This, I believe I stated before, is accomplished through the study of nature, discovering how nature works, how the energies work and to discover how many different types of energies are flowing through the universe, through your very being. These are the life forces that keep you going and give you life. One must grow into the knowledge of these things. I could not explain all of these things to you and tell you how to use them as it would be an endless conversation. It is something that man has to want to work for. He must sincerely study and observe all that goes on in nature. He must become aware of all that goes on about him and not pass things off as nonexistent because he does not see, hear, feel or smell it.

Beyond the five senses are many, many things that are taking place that your peoples, by and large, are not aware of. Your science has been very closed minded concerning this. They have seen demonstrations of it but since it does not fall within their five senses they say that it cannot be. It was not in the book. Your medical profession has seen so-called miraculous healings take place but few of them are convinced or interested enough to research and develop the knowledge to use these laws. There are many things that interfere with their research for these energies are more difficult to use in a way that would be beneficial monetarily. Therefore there has been very little done.

As we were saying in the field of healing, there are many, many, energies that are used in this way. Your body takes on life giving energies through various points of the body which supply certain areas of the body with the specific life force that is needed for that particular part of the body. If these points become blocked so that the energy cannot flow through, the body becomes affected and does not function properly.

There are many, many other things in nature which are beneficial in healing such as herbs. There is a method provided for by nature of healing for any disease or affliction that the body can have, whether it be a plant or an energy. This is a vast field and man is not going to come by all of this knowledge suddenly. It is going to take much research. Your people have been offered help in understanding and in using these things by some of those from other planets in your system who are more advanced in their use. But they have been turned away by those who do not want this sort of thing.

In the New Age this knowledge will be taught and better understood and more widely used for man himself will be of a different nature. He won't be so interested in the carnal, he will have a greater brain capacity and will be more interested in serving his fellow man and in developing that which will raise the consciousness and the health of the people as a whole. He is not going to think in terms of carnal gain for himself.

Questioner: Can you tell us the meaning of "the Sons of Adoni," a term that Oxal uses?

Yaum: They are known throughout the Confederation as the "Sons of Adoni." This terminology perhaps goes way back in the history of their civilization to a Great One who was responsible or partially responsible for raising their civilization to their present level.

Questioner: Do you have anything further to say about Oxal's statements concerning future contacts?

Yaum: I understand that they would have contacted you on the evening of your new year had you been together but it was not possible since you did not make yourselves available. They will probably contact you at a later time.

Questioner: You said that the other sources of energy were not monetarily lucrative. Do you mean that they aren't a tangible resource that can be manipulated and sold, that they are too generally available once they are known so they can't be capitalized on? Will you elaborate on this?

Yaum: This would depend somewhat on the type of energy. There is energy that could be used for power, for transportation, such as is used by your brothers from outer space who travel in spacecraft. They do not pay for this energy, they are using cosmic energy. Of course they have to build certain equipment to use this but once this is done it is the end of the cost as far as power is concerned. They can do this because they understand nature and their craft operates very much as your planet does. The complete secret of their operation will not be revealed to Earth people yet as they are not ready for it. They would use it destructively, they would right away want to make a war machine out of it and the Brothers do not want this to happen. All things can be used for a positive purpose or a negative one, constructive or destructive. So the greater powers cannot be given until there is wisdom to handle these things.

Now there are many other energies, those used for healing would be difficult to capitalize on, because if he would do this he would soon lose his power to heal. If man would function as a whole for the good of all there would be no need for capital gain for each one would pull his load and each one would share equally in the results and there would be no need to gather wealth. Energies used must be guided by wisdom.

On the planets that have this knowledge and use it their leaders are not chosen as you choose leaders. They are chosen for their spiritual abilities, for their wisdom. They do not have politicians who are a special breed.

Your concepts of energies are very narrow and you use the wrong approach. By using the approach that you do, you use power against nature, you fight nature all the time, you drive, you blast off your space vehicles. If you use power correctly you have no pollution, no problem of resistance, you merely flow with nature. Earth man has gone wrong in his approach for everything that he has done. He has done in opposition to nature and his various problems of pollution, fuel shortages are the result. Jet airplanes and the production of electricity take tremendous amounts of fuel, as do other things.

Questioner: Is it necessary to use fuel as energy at all?

Yaum: It would not be necessary to use it at all with the exception of oil as it would have certain uses for lubrication etc. By-products of petroleum could be used for other things. Your internal combustion engines that you use in your automobiles wastes so much besides polluting your air. Most of your power sources are not efficient in any way.

Questioner: Are some of these other methods of using energy known secretly but not allowed to be used?

Yaum: They are known by many of your knowledgeable occultists not by your scientists. It is too dangerous to put many of the occult laws in writing so they are only taught by word of mouth to those that have the wisdom to handle them correctly. But the day will come when your people will be given more of this knowledge because they will have the wisdom to use it. Those who do not have this wisdom will be part of another planet of another solar system where they can develop further. Those who will be left here in the New Age will have the brain capacity and the wisdom to use many of these powers.

Questioner: Lacking the knowledge of using the energies in the proper way, what alternative did we have?

Yaum: There are many other ways that the energies could have been used that would not have been dangerous. I was speaking of some of the greater energies. Some of the solar energies could have been developed and some of your scientists are working in that vein now. But it has not generated much interest among your financial backers.

Your electrical system started off on the wrong side to begin with. If it had been pursued from the opposite negative angle instead of the positive angle you would have had a much cheaper source of power. Tesla did not offer any information concerning this but later he did experiment with it but already your financial wizards had invested too much in the wrong side and would not change. They just pushed Tesla's experiments aside but he did go on and develop a number of things—after he developed the system you have now, the alternating current system—which would have been a great improvement. But when he presented this to the money interests that would have to develop them, they were not interested. So many of his experiments passed with him when he passed on. These experiments would have been very beneficial to your nation and to your world had they been accepted.

But had your scientists studied nature they would have had revealed to them sources of energy that could have been used and not be too dangerous for them to handle.

Now, my friends, it has been my pleasure to spend this time with you and I wish to extend my gratitude for being accepted into your midst. Before I go I should like to extend to each of you my love, my peace and my blessings.

I would ask all the Great Ones to pour forth their love and their blessings upon each of you.

Go in Peace, my friends ☸
