Zalhem: Greetings to you, my beloved friends, I am Zalhem.

I will spend a few moments with you this night. I will endeavor to bring forth some things that I believe have been of interest to some of you here. Let me say first that nothing happens by chance.

Things may seem to be by chance but I assure you, my friends, that this is not, so.

Now, those of you here are on a path of searching. You are searching for truth and this is wise, for without truth man has nothing. But let me say also that truth is an ever-expanding thing. As your consciousness expands so, does your truth. You can receive today only what your consciousness is capable of receiving. This is why all teachers of truth emphasize the importance of expanding your consciousness. Those who are satisfied with their state of being and do not care to expand their consciousness will not experience growth.

If one is to grow in truth and understanding then one must work at it for nothing is gained or accomplished without effort. Seeking truth requires effort. One must search, one must try at all times to expand themselves, one must be ever open-minded. Yet, one must be cautious, one must be discerning, one must follow a path of the middle of the road, gathering from both sides, yet continually sorting. Truth will come in many ways. It will come from high places and it will come from low places. One must learn to look for truth everywhere, for some of your greatest Truths may come from a lowly person.

It is well and necessary to search upon the intellectual level but your greatest truths will not come from this level. Your greatest Truths will come from your search upon the spiritual level. Those who search entirely upon the intellectual level will never reach a state of high knowing. But those who seek on all levels will learn and know the truths that will bring them true knowledge, true wisdom and true love. One is not complete without the other. One must seek spiritually if they are to ever know the high truths.

It is difficult for man who functions by the brain to conceive some of the greater truths that lie beyond.

The truths that man must grow into—things that are too great to be understood on an intellectual level—must be experienced to be understood. With truth must go wisdom. With one's greater understanding and greater expansion into Truth comes greater responsibilities; one attains greater powers. So therefore it is necessary to have the wisdom to use these powers. I say to you, beloved friends, within you are powers that are beyond your comprehension at this time. As has been stated by some of the greater teachers, man's greatest task is to know himself. Know thyself, O man, for when you truly know yourself you will understand much of the functioning of your universe, For in reality you are a universe within yourself.

In the Father's house are many mansions and when I say many I mean many, many mansions of consciousness. And you, my friends, through time, will pass through all of these mansions. You will have experiences of such grandeur that I could not begin to describe them to you. I have experienced some of these mansions, yet I know I have many more to experience as I climb the ladder of truth.

I would like now to speak to some of you concerning your present and past sojourns upon this planet. I know that you have had, during your present sojourn a great urge to know truth, to find answers. This has been an almost overwhelming urge within you. This is the truth within you coming forth again.

In the dim, dark past of other civilizations upon your planet, you had attained a very high state of knowing. You had gained great powers in the occult laws and for a long time you used these wisely. And then as many others did in this civilization you began to use them for selfish reasons. You were not alone in this, thousands upon thousands in that civilization did the same things and that was the downfall of the civilization. Now you are coming again into a realization of greater things and your soul is yearning to know, to know the truth. Again you will come into the truth, you will gain great knowledge through your search for these truths, of these laws and how they function.

It has taken you many lifetimes since then to come back to this state. Pray that you have wisdom this time. Search for wisdom as well as knowledge. Wisdom is not found in books or in teachers—it comes from within. It is divinely given. Pray, my friends, that the Holy Breath will breathe this wisdom upon you that you might serve and serve wisely, doing all things in moderation, in love and in understanding. Put your service to your fellow man above all else in your life, for as you serve your brother man, as you do unto him, so do you do unto your heavenly Father.

So I say to all of you, my friends, serve and serve wisely as you tread the path of time, seeking ever to gain greater understanding. Greater understanding of yourself, of your fellow man and of your Creator. For as you gain understanding of these things you gain understanding of all things.

I have stayed my time, It has been my very great pleasure to spend this time among you. I leave you by extending my love and my blessings to each of you. May all the Great Ones pour forth their blessings upon you and may each of you in your search for truth grow rapidly. May you find all the things that you seek, may the doors be flung wide for you. Peace be with you, peace, peace.

Go in Peace. ☸
