Special: Peace, beloved ones.

Each of you here are seeking greater understanding greater truth. You wish to come into the knowledge of greater powers, of the richer life. These are the desires that I see lurking in the hearts of each of you; therefore, beloved ones, if you would attain these things, I beseech thee to do these things. Remove from your consciousness all resentment, fear. Do not let these things creep into your consciousness. Do not allow any thought of coveting, of jealousy. Dig deep within your inner consciousness, or what you would term in your language, the subconscious, for here you have stored these things. Over the years you have placed these things within this storehouse, and through natural law, these things shall keep coming to the surface.

Beloved ones, as these things come to the surface, come to the conscious, cast them aside and immediately replace these with thoughts of love, thoughts of kindness, with any thought that is of the opposite of that which you wish to dispose of. Man of Earth has been taught to do these things. These things have been heaped into his consciousness. But man will never find the higher life, the greater understanding as long as these things remain. If man is to grow in spiritual understanding, if he is to know the greater things of life, these things must pass away. The self must be lost, and a new consciousness of a oneness must replace the consciousness of self, a consciousness of being one with the whole. For, beloved ones, this is what you truly are, a minute cell in the great sea of consciousness you call God. You are a minute particle of this great consciousness, yet, a very important part, a very great part, capable of acquiring and using all of the knowledge that is contained therein.

Beloved ones, this perhaps is somewhat difficult for you to conceive, yet it be true, and as you grow, as you gain more knowledge, more understanding of the true you, you will begin to take on a realization of these things. As Man eliminates the blocks, as he removes the stumbling blocks from his pathway, he begins to discover himself, who and what he truly is. And as he discovers more and more, he begins to come into a realization that within him is contained the same powers, the same energies, that control and permeate the universe. That you, each one of you, as all men do, contain this one great energy, and through this he is able to absorb, as he develops, the knowledge, the wisdom and the understanding of the universe and of this great power and intelligence that you call God. You discover that you are a part, as important a part as is any other cell or particle of this great a oneness, this great wholeness.

Beloved ones, think upon these things, ponder them in your quiet times and begin to prepare yourself for the realization that will someday be yours.

Go in Peace, beloved ones, go in Peace. So be it. ☸
