Teacher: May peace, love and understanding engulf the hearts of each of you this night. So be it.

My beloved friends, planet Earth and its people find themselves at this time in such a precarious situation, only because they have allowed to come into their hearts, greed, hate, jealousy, self pity, ego and so on. Man has had these things so implanted in his consciousness that they have become a part of him, so to speak. It is difficult for some of us who live in an environment of love and understanding to see how man of Earth can be so oblivious of the things that are bringing about his downfall. Over the centuries man has had the opportunity to learn of these laws. Master after Master has come to your planet, bringing a message of truth, of love, telling Earth man of the universal laws and asking him to go with these Laws. Buddha, Krishna, Jesus and many others have brought this message to Earth people. Great multitudes of Earth people profess to follow the teachings of one or another of these Masters.

In your hemisphere those who call themselves Christians are more familiar to you. They profess to follow the teaching of the great Master you call Jesus of Nazareth, yet how few, even to a small degree, attempt to follow the teachings. How many do you know, would go the extra mile, would turn the other cheek, who would do many of the things that are necessary in order to be a true follower of the teachings of this great Master?

Many of your so called Christian churches have removed part of the teachings from the writings that have been handed down to your people. They have decided who shall be given the teachings and what part of these teachings shall be given to their people. This, my friends, follows down to the individual, who decides for himself the certain portions of these teachings he will follow; other portions which do not suit his purpose, he will ignore. This does not work. This does not blend with universal law, for if man is to reap the benefit of universal law, he must go all the way, not a quarter or a half. I cannot love the neighbor upon my right and hate the neighbor upon my left, for I am not fulfilling the law when I do this. I cannot extend to one man the hand of fellowship, of love, because he is conforming to my truth and not to another, because he does not agree with my truth or my understanding. These are the conditions that exist among the masses upon planet Earth. This constitutes the race consciousness that exists. Each of you who are able through your own efforts to raise above this consciousness, to go all the way, to master universal law, these, my friends, will be the ones that will bring this race consciousness to a point where man of Earth will move into a completely new consciousness. There are today upon planet Earth, many people who are on the verge of accomplishing this. They need only to put forth a little more effort and determination in order to accomplish this.

I do not imply that these are in the majority, but rather in the minority. But a minority group can do a great deal in furthering the evolvement of Earth man. Once this has been started, and it has been started, it shall gain momentum, for the light emanated by these enlightened ones shall bring unto them many more, for all man is seeking in some degree, and any light that shines bright enough is bound to attract unto it others.

I say again to all of you, love ye one another. See in each a perfection that ye know exists. Ah, how beautiful is the true you, of all of us. Let us see this beauty, let us see ourselves and our brothers and sisters for what they are.

May the Peace, the love and the understanding of the infinite one fill the hearts of each of you to overflowing. So be it. So be it and ever shall it be, beloved. ☸
