Clyde: Greetings, Athens. We haven't heard from you in a long time. Athens says that we have a good group here tonight. Yes, I'm on the beam, but you're too far back. Bring it forward and a little to the left. Now you're too far left. Yes, that is better but bring it forward a little more. Yes, that feels good. You might bring that temperature down just a little bit. That's good. Now the visual is opening. It's a little fuzzy. That's better, it is clearer now. Everything feels normal now. Yes, it is good to see you again and to hear from you. O.K. go ahead. Everything feels clear here.

Oxal: Greetings in the Light, my friends, I am Oxal.

Since we have not been in contact with you for some time, we decided that perhaps we had better check in on you. I meant that only in jest because we are in contact with you. We know your actions, your activities, what is happening with your group, and we will contact you occasionally.

As we look upon your planet today, we see so much turmoil. It is in turmoil all across its surface, both its humanity and the planet itself, yet we realize that this is a part of evolution. But be not discouraged because there are better times ahead, not in the immediate future or even the near future in your time, but in cosmic time it will be soon.

Many changes are going to take place in the meantime. Everything is in constant process of change. But in certain times in evolution it is necessary to speed up the changes and many changes take place within a short time. But this is all a process of what you call nature, and it must be so in this case.

Now is also a time of bringing together certain of the Light workers, certain ones who are seeking, and as we look down upon your planet from our vantage point, we can see these lights burning. These are little lights of consciousness, some very bright, some not so bright and some quite dim. We recognize these, we see them, and we know that these are the ones who are striving in the right direction. These are the ones that we want to help and encourage in every way that we can. That is one reason why, at this time, many are being brought in contact with each other so that they might share, and that they might be of help to each other in gaining more and new knowledge, and in making forward progress upon the path of evolution.

In the times ahead it is going to be well that you know where many of the Light workers are, for there will be times when you may want to contact them. By bringing them together, acquaintances will be made. Often you will find, there are those out there with whom you can establish and will establish great rapport. There are those who—as our friend here, your visitor, has experienced—have had a terrific urge to know, to find those who can be useful in their progress in sharing knowledge with them. There are those who are just awakening to the fact that there is something better than what they have. Many of these will find that they have great desires, great urges to do something, yet they know not from whence these come. They know not quite what to do with them. They are going to be faced with decisions as all of you will be. There will be decisions to make. There will be sacrifices to be made if you are to gain the things of spirit that you seek.

There are many of these people on your planet, and they are being directed and guided into various directions where they can find that which they seek, that which is needed for them. What you must realize also, is that there are many paths, and what is right for one individual may not be right for another. Therefore we, and when I say we, I mean all of the Hierarchy and the workers who are in charge of directing these people upon your planet. We try to direct them to where they can receive that which is best for them, which will fit into their type of mind, their type of thinking. So the fact that some of you come together in your seeking and receive that which you want, does not mean that that is for everyone, for there are other ways. There are others that follow a somewhat different path, who will arrive at the same point if they are sincere.

So you are going to find, and I think that you have already found, that there are many decisions that are not easy to make. The reason that they are not easy to make is because you have become attached very strongly to carnal things. The customs of your way are strong in your mind and they are not easy to set aside. All of these things of the carnal, of the earthly type, are but fleeting things; they come and they go. But you can go on indefinitely.

So these decisions will not be easy. Priorities will not be easy to set. Many things will get in the way, but eventually you will see and see clearly, and the reason that these decisions are difficult to make is because you do not yet see clearly. But as you grow in love, in understanding and in wisdom, the eye will become more clear and you will see more clearly. The ear will become more keen, and you will hear more clearly.

You will see and hear more and you will speak less. Sometimes our voice gets in the way of our seeing and our hearing and we do not hear clearly or see clearly. But as you grow and learn, as you gain knowledge and use it, your eye will become more single and you will see more clearly.

Now, beloved ones, as I leave I extend to each of you my most sincere love and understanding, and the love and the understanding of my people.

I am Oxal. ❧
