Anthon: Peace be with thee, my friends, I am Anthon.

Beloved friends, there is a great need at this moment for peace vibrations to be created in the envelope of your planet. A great wave is now sweeping your planet. A wave of hatred, of discontent. Great masses of people are emanating vibrations of hate, of greed and lust. These situations are not beneficial to the well-being and to the future of your planet.

It will be necessary for many, many people upon your planet to send forth great thought waves of love, of understanding, to counteract these negative vibrations that are being sent forth; to prevent the growth and the spread of this disease, so to speak, that is festering in the hearts of so many individuals upon planet Earth. If great strife and conflict is to be avoided, it is going to be necessary for many, many of you to attempt to counteract these things. You have only to stop for a moment to look back, to analyze and quickly you will see how rapidly this disease is spreading upon this planet.

If peace is to come, is to be maintained, it must grow in the hearts of the people. They must not allow themselves to be swayed by those who would encourage this sort of thing. There are those forces existing, both upon and around your planet, that take great pride, great joy, in bringing this sort of thing into being, in bringing frustration and confusion to the hearts of men. So let us encourage those with whom we come in contact, to do all in their power to counteract this sort of vibration that is taking root so rapidly in your civilization.

We, who are observing your situation, find it quite alarming, and we are doing all in our power to counteract and slow the process of the negativity that has sprung up so rapidly in the past few months, but our power is limited by Universal Law. Man must also be responsible to himself. If he is unable through his own intelligence to avoid this sort of thing, if he will not be influenced, if he refuses to be guided on the right path, then there is only one result—he must suffer the consequences of his own wrongdoing.

I do not enjoy speaking of these things. We do not like bringing these things to the attention of Earth people, but can ye not see the path that Earth people are falling into? Can ye not see that they are being persuaded, being led by the forces of darkness, blindly led into their own destruction? Why man moves so blindly is often difficult to conceive, especially when there is a path open to him, a path much greater, much more pleasant and much more fruitful, and how this path cannot be apparent to mankind is difficult to understand.

I say to Earth man, come ye out, come ye out into the realization of what and who you are. Come forth and take your rightful place among mankind. Realize that you are a creation of the one most high, and that you are endowed with his powers. You need only to come forth and claim that which is yours.

You need not be led into the mire or trampled in the dust, for ye are creatures of the most high, and this you need only to realize and to claim.

Yet, this realization is so dim in the hearts of the great majority of Earth man. Let each of us who can, do all in our power to change this situation by letting our own light shine forth, by placing into the vibrations of planet Earth all of the love and the understanding that we can create, that it might counteract and overpower the opposition that now exists.

Peace be with you, my friends, Peace be with you, and may this Peace rise up in the hearts of all Earth man and bring Peace to this planet. ♣
