

Caveat: These communications are informative teaching instructions for those who seek to increase their understanding of themselves and the magnitude of the future lying before us all. These lectures are not of a religious nature but rather deal with the science of human potential and evolution. This document is a direct transcription from the original recording. Although it has been checked for obvious errors, it has not been finally edited.

Copyright © 2012 Clyde Trepanier

September 20, 1975

Zalhem: Greetings to you, my beloved friends, I am Zalhem.

It is my pleasure and privilege to come once more among you. I was aware of your conversation regarding the matter of energies and sources of energies and with your permission I should like to say a few words on this subject.

Now it was mentioned that there are a number of sources that can be tapped and that each one of these perhaps would have some effect upon your environment, and this I will agree to. The logical thing, it would seem to me, would be to use some of all the sources. Therefore, it would not be damaging to your environment except in small ways from each source and the effect would be minimum.

It is well to use some of the water power that is being used today. But if it were done in areas that would not be damaging, using sources that would not destroy or interrupt nature's process, it would be acceptable. And this would include the tides.

Some of the other past civilizations have used the tides to produce energy without damaging or polluting, but the areas were picked carefully and it was not overdone.

There are sources of solar energy that could be quite easily tapped. The sun gives off a great amount of energy. Done properly this can be captured for man's use and it is also possible to store energy in its abundant periods, therefore being able to use it in the leaner periods.

The problem upon planet Earth is not so much a lack of energy as it is a problem of using good judgment in extracting and producing energy. Also your planet has been guilty of wasting great amounts of energy through wars and other uses that could have well been avoided. Here is where the greed enters in, the greed for power. Today upon planet Earth energy is the most valuable commodity that exists. Is this not so?

Questioner: Yes.

Zalhem: This is recognized by those in power and great efforts have been made to control the sources of energy by a few, and when you control the most important commodity that exists, you have the power in your hands to control the people.

This power structure has become so powerful and so greedy that I do not believe it will be possible for your people to break this power. It would be possible if enough of your people would determine that it be done, which does not seem to be the case. This power structure cannot exist in the New Age. This is why a cleansing must take place. This is why in the New Age the leadership of the civilization, the government, must be what is claimed for your government, the government of the people, by the people and for the people as was stated by one of your leaders, but this is not the case.

A government cannot stand in the fire unless it is established upon these principles. A government cannot be of a few, by a few and for a few and stand. All of the governments on planet Earth today are of this nature. But in the New Age we hope your leaders will be chosen because of their spiritual background and understanding, their love for their fellow man. This type of leader will see the need and will fulfill it. He will make his judgments upon what is best for all concerned. The things that affect all of the people must belong to all of the people. The benefits must be for all of the people. Everyone must benefit and not a few.

This may sound idealistic to Earth people. They will say that it is not human nature to function in this way, that some people must be led, some people must be cared for and told what to do. But this is not true, in my opinion, for if man is educated properly he will assume his responsibilities. Man will respond to the love of his fellow man, he will not want to take advantage but rather he will want to serve him.

This has been demonstrated to a slight degree at times upon your planet by certain individuals in your business world who have had a slight inkling of this type of love and have tried to share with their employees. In most cases it has worked out quite well until some of the greater powers see these things beginning to succeed, so they devised methods to destroy them because they do not want to see this type of thing grow. They do not have a love for their fellow man. But I have seen it work on other planets, I know that it does work and it will work for planet Earth. So perhaps you can see why there will be such a few to start this type of civilization.

Now I have rambled long enough. I do not wish to bore you ... It is my pleasure to have had this opportunity to come among you.

As I leave I wish to extend to each of you my most sincere love and blessings, and I ask all of the Great Ones to pour forth their love and blessings into the hearts of each of you.

Go in peace, my friends, peace, peace. ☸