

Caveat: These communications are informative teaching instructions for those who seek to increase their understanding of themselves and the magnitude of the future lying before us all. These lectures are not of a religious nature but rather deal with the science of human potential and evolution. This document is a direct transcription from the original recording. Although it has been checked for obvious errors, it has not been finally edited.

Oxal: Greetings in the light my friends. I am Oxal.

Once more it is my pleasure to speak with you. We have had some difficulty in establishing contact with you there tonight due to cosmic interference which now seems to have cleared itself. So we shall proceed with our communication.

As you are all well aware by now, the first great major cataclysm of your decade has just occurred. It would be well if more of your people could see this first hand and realize how helpless man is against nature. Man of Earth thinks he has made great strides in his knowledge and his wisdom. He believes he has reached great heights in his knowledge of the laws of nature and the laws that control your planet and the universe. But man of Earth has hardly reached the equivalent of your kindergarten children in gaining knowledge of the laws of your creator. Most of your great minds have not even yet been able to recognize the great force that controls and functions all of creation. Your great minds today have great visions of conquering other worlds, and yet they are not able to conquer themselves.

The great need that exists among Earth men today is to know themselves. To understand the function of man himself. For never will man be able to understand the greater laws that control the Universe until he can understand himself and the laws that cause him to function. The great upheaval that is taking place within your planet today, has basically been brought about by man himself. He is rapidly destroying and depleting the planet upon which he lives, by wasteful use of its resources and by carelessly destroying the environment in which he must live. This is the cause, the effect will be the reaction of the laws of nature.

There are worlds where men have lived in peace and in harmony. Where they have had respect and consideration for the planet upon which they live, where they have used the resources to the advantage of all mankind in their civilization. They have wasted not, yet they have plenty. But they do not require more than is needed for a happy and well adjusted life. They do not try to acquire power over their fellow man by gathering and monopolizing the resources of their planet. They live one for all and all for one. Each interested in the welfare of his fellow being. Doing always what is best for all and not what will give more power to a few. Therefore, they do not have the type of thing occurring upon their planet which is occurring upon planet Earth. For nature has no reason to react against them.

The planet upon which you live exists by the same laws that you exist. It is in itself an entity, yes, I could even say it is an intelligence and reacts to the laws of cause and effect, even as you and I. Yes, men of Earth, you have much, much, much to learn of nature and her functions. If Earth man would study more closely the functions of nature, he would soon become a much wiser man. But for some non-understandable reason, the great scientific minds of Earth men seem to want to oppose the laws of nature. How much easier it would be in their scientific development, if they would but cooperate, use the laws of nature as they were intended to be used. Your mode of transportation, your whole way of life, in every phase, would be much easier. You would not be polluting your air, as you are doing today, through the massive use of internal combustion engines and great factory furnaces, belching out into your air great quantities of poison, which is deterring the health of your civilization and bringing destruction upon you. Soon your air will not be of a nature that you can live within it. Your waters will not be drinkable and Man cannot exist in physical form without air and water. Yet, if Earth man had followed the laws of nature, had studied these laws through observation, he would be much wiser today, much healthier and much happier. Within nature lies everything that man needs for life of the highest type, if he would but use these laws as they should be used and not attempt to be greedy. For, by being greedy and attempting to control nature's resources and use them for his own advantages, or the advantage of a few, he sets in motion laws that bring about the very thing that you see happening upon your planet today.

My friends, there is going to be much more, as I predicted for you at the beginning of this decade. So I say to each of you, and to all that are attempting to walk in the light, to strengthen yourselves spiritually, morally, physically and to cooperate in every way possible with nature's laws. Eliminate from your consciousness all hate and greed, eliminate the consciousness of self and cultivate the consciousness of wholeness, or a oneness with all creation.

You do not have to react to the words or actions of another, you do not have to defend your actions when your motives are pure. Let not the words or actions of another cause you any concern, any anger, or self pity, for you of yourself are all things. You are created in the image and likeness of your creator, and when you can come into the realization of this you will have greater power and understanding. Realize your kinship with your creator and with all creation. Give forth, at all times, in love and in understanding, and love and understanding will return to you.

I leave you, my friends, by extending to you the love, the light and the understanding of my people.

I am Oxal. ❄
