Teacher: Peace, my children, peace, peace.

Tonight, beloved ones, I stood among you. I observed, and what I observed was good. I note harmony existing, an attempt to have understanding. As we observe the chaos, as it increases today upon your planet, we see so much need for what you are attempting to demonstrate among you. And believe me when I say that your efforts are not going unnoticed, and your efforts are not going unfelt. The positive vibrations that you emanate are doing good, but a great deal more is needed, as you well know and can see.

The day rapidly approaches, my friends, when your planet shall feel the impact of the great field of negativity that has been built around it. The day approaches when many things shall become more clear to you. I know that among Earth people there is much wondering, much puzzling as to the whys and wherefores of many, many things. We often hear remarks by your people wondering why this individual or that individual, although his actions are of a very unjust nature, still, in your material world, he seems to gain wealth, prestige and power.

But I say to you, my friends, the day approaches when all mankind of your planet shall receive justice and in this hour you will understand. It shall unfold before you, and you shall be very, very happy that you have traveled the path of light. Could you imagine with me for one moment, my friends, observing those who pass on into a new life of peace, of love, of understanding—a Utopia as you would express it, and not being able to move on with them, but rather to continue on in something that is much less desirable, and suddenly having the realization of how glorious this could be and yet not being able to receive it, because you had not built your treasures in the proper place?

No, beloved friends, universal law is just. Your creator is not a respecter of persons, but a respecter of law, and he who lives and abides by his laws shall also abide in his glory. So, I say to you, beloved friends, build your treasures in spirit, for there also will your consciousness be, and you shall trod the path that shall take you through realms that are beyond your comprehension. You shall experience wisdom, love and understanding and shall know life abundantly, shall know it for what it really is, for life is sweet, if you wish to make it so, and it can be as sweet as you wish to make it. Beloved friends, no one can do it for you. You are the creator of your own consciousness, and you are what you can be conscious of being. You are the being of your consciousness. So, beloved friends, expand that consciousness to be exactly what you wish it to be, it is up to you. Your creator has willed it thus, and thus it shall be.

My peace, my love and my understanding I extend to each of you, and may each of you expand your consciousness and become exactly that, that you wish to be. Peace be with you, my friends, Peace, Peace. ☸
