Oxal: Greetings in the Light, my friends, I am Oxal.

It is my pleasure to speak to you again and I want to extend my greetings to our old friends here tonight, who have not been with you for some time. We are still aware of your activities and your progress as we are with all who work in the Light.

The Cosmic Clock is rapidly approaching the midnight hour. As we observe planet Earth and its peoples from our vantage point here in space, we see but few who have kept their lamps filled and their wicks trimmed who are ready to greet the bridegroom and enter in with him.

Most have pursued the carnal pleasures and have worshiped their carnal gods, always having good intentions of someday filling their lamps and trimming their wicks. But they do not feel that the hour draws near. They still think they have plenty of time to make the change, but these will soon find their carnal gods crumbling and falling away and will find that it will be too late. The oil will not be available to fill their lamp and they will remain dry.

The day of salvation draws nearer, my friends, when all shall receive justice and many of the Light workers at that time will have a much greater understanding of justice. For I know many of them have wondered, through the times, why they have apparently gone through trials and tribulations while others who are pursuing the carnal pleasures seem to have all the breaks, as you put it. But in this day, you will understand more clearly and you will know justice.

The new age that approaches will be an age of justice where man will deal with man justly, where selfishness and greed will fade away, where the Brotherhood of Man will be better understood and will be lived. These times draw near. The carnal will soon reach its peak and fall away and man will realize the un-importance of these things and the importance of feeding the soul.

So, my friends, keep your lamps filled and your wicks trimmed that you may be ready when the bridegroom approaches for you know not the hour or the day. But the day is not far off.

To change the subject I might tell you that our beloved friend and brother, Mong Ling, who has spoken to you a number of times when a visitor aboard our craft, has now returned to planet Earth on a mission. I believe that in one of his talks he mentioned that this would be the case in the near future. He is now upon your planet in a manifested or created physical body that will function in your environment.

And I understand that perhaps before too long he may be speaking to you. He is aware of your activities and as I have said, he has spoken to you several times. So it may be something for you to look forward to in the near future. I do not know just when this will be but it will be at his choosing.

Now, my friends, I leave you by extending to you the love, the light and the understanding of my people.

I am Oxal. ✨
