Yaum: Good evening to you, my friends. It has been sometime since I have had the opportunity to visit you and since I have a few moments at this time I thought I might drop by and report to you.

I would like to report to you on the Middle East situation since you have been asked to pray about it. We have been working very hard there to try to bring about influences that will bring the right decisions. In many ways we have been successful. The opposition has been successful too in some ways. But it is all very, shall we say, inconclusive at this time.

There are a great many selfish interests involved. There are many feelings of longstanding prejudices, hatred and ill feelings which have to be overcome—but we are hopeful. We would like to see this situation resolved for there is a great danger there, if conflict breaks out, that it could develop into a very major conflict which would involve the major powers and develop into a nuclear holocaust which we do not want to see.

We are not so concerned about the major nations starting a nuclear war as we are of the smaller nations. But once it is started it would spread very rapidly and this we do not wish to see happen. Although as we have said, we would not allow it to go to the point of destroying the planet. But we do not want to have to interfere at all in the evolution of Earth man.

A question that I know many of you have had in your minds concerns the vibrations or concussions that have been heard along your East coast. Well, my friends, this is not something that has been unheard of before. It has happened many times through the years in various locations upon your planet. Perhaps not in such quantities that has occurred along your East coast.

These have your scientists very baffled and they are trying to void the subject publicly while privately conjecturing about it. But these things can occur anywhere upon your planet when a large craft enters earth's envelope and changes densities very quickly. Now where it will be felt or heard depends a great deal on atmospheric conditions and the conditions along your East coast have been favorable for the concussions to occur.

These same atmospheric conditions are partially responsible for great storms that have occurred. I do not mean that the concussions are a result of that, but the same atmospheric conditions that are causing them to be felt in that area are also part of the conditions that are bringing about the severe storms that you have.

Questioner: Do you mean craft of other dimensions?

Yaum: Yes. Ships of huge size coming into the Earth's envelope and at that same time a sudden change of density causes this to happen. Perhaps your scientists would not understand this, however, I think that some of them would.

Questioner: Can you see any great geographical changes in 1982?

Yaum: Not exactly in 1982. Some of these could occur anytime between now and 1982, even beyond that and they will come about gradually. The West coast at this time is being watched very closely by your "Space Brothers as you call them, as there is great danger there of some inundation. But I don't think this will occur in the immediate future although it will not be too many years. Your earthquakes are going to be felt more and more and be more severe. The San Andreas fault line according to all indications, is becoming more and more active although I feel that it will start with more mild quakes and develop into greater ones which will bring about great changes upon your West coast. You are also due for some big changes on the East coast and many areas of the inner lands such as the Great Lakes, et cetera.

Questioner: Was there someone born who would be around fifteen years old now and who is supposed to be very influential in the future as an Antichrist?

Yaum: Yes, he has already come to your planet. I am not sure of the time of his birth, perhaps he is somewhere in that age bracket. Of course he will be influential in trying to bring about a world government with, of course, the selling point of being for the good of mankind and bringing all mankind together, which is alright, except his true intentions will not be of the nature of that which he expounds.

Questioner: There has been a prediction that there will be an earthquake in the Tacoma area in the next four years. Do you believe that we are that close to one in this area?

Yaum: As I have already stated the San Andreas fault line is becoming very active and there will be many rumblings along this fault line. I do not see any immediate danger in this particular area, although it will perhaps be affected by some of the greater quakes later. There may be some quakes that will affect the South Seattle area but I don't see any great destruction in that area in the immediate future. California will get some very destructive earthquakes but I don't believe the major ones will take place there until perhaps after 1982. But some of these smaller quakes may cause a great deal more damage than would seem possible in that so much of that area is already below sea level and even a small quake or tidal wave could cause flooding of those lands as there is not much protection of those areas from sea water. If something breaks it open there, it could very easily flood from the sea.

Questioner: Would there be food shortage from these California quakes?

Yaum: Definitely so, as they supply a great amount of your fresh produce.

Questioner: Are large craft entering our atmosphere more now than before?

Yaum: I wouldn't say that there have been more entering lately although there may have been more entering at a certain area in space which would affect that part of your country or planet. This would cause the concussions to be felt there.

Questioner: Would there be a change in the atmospheric conditions that would contribute to it?

Yaum: Not a complete change, no, but certain atmospheric conditions at a certain time can cause this and perhaps there are ships entering or leaving many times which do not cause it. It is not happening every day, so it depends on the conditions at that moment in time.

Questioner: Does this affect the ship itself?

Yaum: No, it does not. It is like a sonic boom from your airplanes. It does not affect the airplane but you feel it on the ground.

Questioner: Is there going to be any evidence in the near future that will be accepted by the world governments or the masses as proof that there are space vehicles that travel to other planets, solar systems and galaxies?

Yaum: I do not believe that there is any doubt among those who have investigated at this time, but there will be more evidence coming forth of the existence of these craft. There is no way that they can prove to the populace of your planet that there is inter galactic communication or transportation as they have been trying for many years to make Earth people aware of the fact that they are here and not of our dimension. And this is the thing right now that Earth people need to understand more than anything else.

These beings, people, or whatever you choose to call them, that are coming into your atmosphere are not of the same dimension as Earth people. They have the ability to transfer from one dimension to another, depending on their own state of evolution, as to how far they can go in this, how many dimensions they can go into, etc. Those of the higher dimensions come down through the various dimensions, but it is not easy for those of the lower dimensions to go into the higher ones.

Earth people need to understand, if they are ever to understand, space vehicles, space travel and space people. And once they are convinced and willing to accept the fact of the various dimensions, more knowledge can be brought to them concerning these things. Then they will have a better understanding of it and their fears will be eliminated and there will be more cooperation between those of other dimensions and Earth man can benefit by it his knowledge increased.

I do not think that general acceptance is going to come about through the "old guard" scientists who cannot seem to fit this into their way of thinking and who say "This can't be, I don't want to look at it, it isn't there, I want to ignore it." Those kind will never accept. It will be the younger scientists and a few of the older ones who have been willing to open their minds who are going to bring the new knowledge, who are going to change man's way of thinking, who are going to change many of your laws of physics.

All of the laws of physics were once laws of metaphysics and as man proves them and accepts them, they become the laws of physics. These etheric laws are going to become the laws of physics.

Questioner: Did the producers have any help from those of other realms in making the movie "Close Encounters"?

Yaum: I'm sure that they did, although I am not knowledgeable concerning the help that was given. Perhaps it was in the way of influences from those of other dimensions. But of course what you call the moving picture industry, has to dress it up a bit to make it more fantastic. The airship that they showed does not in any way resemble a spaceship but it was beautiful photography. I did see the film. It has created a great deal of interest among your people and opened their minds to the subject or perhaps bring about a little more boldness from some people who believe but don't talk about it as they might be considered queer and we don't want to be considered queer, do we?

The fact that there could be people from outer space and spacecraft visiting us is becoming a little more accepted by some and I think it will become even more so.

Questioner: Do you feel that Dr. Hynek is being influenced by good forces?

Yaum: He is sincere in his research and I think he is trying to reach the truth. I believe that he doesn't speak in public as he might in private. He does not want to be considered queer and he has to maintain his image, of course, as a scientist and he tries to be very scientific about it. But he is well aware that the "Visitors" are of another dimension, in fact I think he has stated this publicly. He doesn't go much beyond that although he may have many private ideas, he does not care to expound all of them publicly.

It has been my privilege to have had this opportunity to come among you. I wish to extend my gratitude to you for tolerating my endless expounding. I wish to extend my love and my blessings to all of you.

I ask all of the Great Ones to pour forth their blessings, their love and their peace upon each of you. May you find great peace as you go forth in your daily work.

Go in peace, my friends, go in peace. Peace, peace, peace. ☸
