Oxal: Greetings in the Light. my friends. I am Oxal.

We have observed and monitored your gathering tonight and also at your last gathering. We have found much interest and we, of course, knew that the interest was here prior to your meeting.

Now, my friends, realize that nothing happens by chance. Coming together in these meetings has not been by chance. It is for a purpose and I will go into the purpose of this in a brief way.

Your civilization has some very difficult times ahead that it must face. Much of your civilization will not have the strength, spiritually or physically, to endure these times. Many others will have this strength but they will need help from others, from others who can spark that in them which is necessary to give them the courage and strength that they will need. In order to be able to do this there is certain knowledge, certain understanding and a great deal of wisdom that will be needed.

So, many are being brought together to have brought to them newer knowledge and understanding of many of the things that are going on about them. For through this understanding and knowledge they will be able to help others in the future.

Now all of this will not come about in a moment. It will require some time and effort but gradually you will come into this knowledge. You will be led in paths that will give you the knowledge and the wisdom that is necessary for you to have. This will come in many ways. Much will come from your inner knowing. Much will be revealed to you if you practice periods of silence. Practice it to the point of where your silence may become deep, where you are able to enter those inner chambers of the Self, where you begin to know and understand the inner man.

Much will come to you in other ways, such as what you are hearing now, and in your relationships and contacts with other people who have knowledge that is necessary for you to have.

It is necessary for you to become aware, to develop a sense of awareness so that you become sensitive at all times to the things that go on about you. For often in these things that seem very unimportant, very ordinary, you will find at times great lessons there to be learned, when your awareness becomes sensitive enough to sense these things.

Be especially aware of what goes on in nature, of the processes of nature and of the laws of nature. For therein is contained all the secrets of life, all that you need to know to conquer in the state of consciousness of your Earth.

In nature is contained all of the lessons that will give you the knowledge to overcome that lower self, that lower animal man that exists in all of you. You will learn how to become master of this—and this is the primary purpose, the primary lesson to be learned on planet Earth—if you seek these laws in nature.

You have been given by great teachers in the past, the laws and the rules by which this can be done. But these rules and lessons are also written in your innermost being and there, too, you can find them. But you must learn to enter this inner being to find the way, to open the door and this is accomplished through entering the silence and learning to go deep within. It requires a purification of the body, the mind and the soul, for the inner sanctums can only be entered into by those of pure heart.

This is your goal, people of Earth, whether it is realized or not, it is man's goal and sooner or later he must accomplish it. But it is like any other goal that is of a high nature. It requires work and it requires a great amount of discipline.

So, my friends, if you would enter these sanctums, if you would be in a position to have the knowledge and wisdom to fulfill the missions that have been set for many of you, then it will be necessary for you to strive for these goals and to work.

Those who put forth the effort will always find a helping hand, someone who will reach out and give them strength and courage so that they will also be able to reach back and give forth the same to others.

So I say, seek ye, my friends, work. Be diligent and all will work out for your benefit and for the benefit of those about you and those whom you would help.

I leave you, my friends, by extending to you the love, the light and the understanding of my people.

I am Oxal. ✿
