

Caveat: These communications are informative teaching instructions for those who seek to increase their understanding of themselves and the magnitude of the future lying before us all. These lectures are not of a religious nature but rather deal with the science of human potential and evolution. This document is a direct transcription from the original recording. Although it has been checked for obvious errors, it has not been finally edited.

Zalhem: Greetings to you my children, I am Zalhem. So what would you talk about?

Questioner: Will you tell me what this means, "Some that rest in the dust of the Earth shall rise and receive everlasting life"?

Zalhem: This was an expression that was used, but it was very much misinterpreted. That means that on the judgment day, all will be judged. This is only symbolic of the soul. The body itself is not going to rise. Once the body has been returned to the place from once it came, it will not reassemble itself and become somebody again. You see when a lot of those expressions were used, they had to use it in such a way that people could understand. At that time, many were not aware of the individual as being a dual individual. They could not conceive of themselves as being anything but what they saw, the physical body itself. Which, of course, you are not.

I think that you understand the evolution of the physical body such as how it was brought up through the stages of evolution and it was finally brought to where man could occupy it to use it for a vehicle. This has to be because the real you is of such a fine vibration that you could not hold yourself on this Earth if you did not have a vehicle of this type to express in. The gravity of the planet would not hold you. This, of course, is why you had to have a vehicle that was suitable to this environment. So, that is what is meant, that the souls will be collected and each will read his book of life.

Questioner: What is meant when it is said "you shall receive life everlasting"?

Zalhem: It is the soul that receives it. The soul never dies, in that when a soul can proceed with its evolution will live for eons and eons. Everything eventually returns to its original source. What is spoken of in your scriptures of 'everlasting life', is a continuation of life.

Questioner: Is this a hidden manner in which to talk about reincarnation?

Zalhem: Yes. Reincarnation and beyond that. You see the Solar Beings have been around for eons of time. They have come up through the evolution the same as you are coming up through the evolution. Many of them are from other cosmic days. They are not of this cosmic day at all. Time is so vast, so everlasting, so far extended, it is difficult to conceive of this in your present state of evolution, especially from man's viewpoint of it. No one really even knows how long a cosmic day is, except in the very highest ranks. It is so vast a time as measured in your time. You could not measure it in years.

Much of nature out there is yet to be understood by many. It is only understood by those that have reached the very highest. That is why, what you call God, is almost inconceivable to man, in his lower stages of evolution. Also in the translation from the old languages it is often hard to find words that will describe exactly what they were saying then. A certain amount of your scriptures are lost in the translation. If you could read these scriptures in the original language, they would be more clear as to their meaning.

Questioner: Are there any translations of the Bible that are closer to the truth than others?

Zalhem: They vary. One may have a little better translation in one area than another, depending upon who is doing the translation. It also depends how well the translator is versed in the older languages. The general idea is there. If anyone is sincere in their seeking and will keep an open mind, they will find the answers to these things. The problem is that so many want to interpret everything exactly as it is written. This you cannot do and get the true meaning out of it. Behind all of the parables, stories and the historical parts of the Bible, there are also metaphysical lessons there. Different characters represent different things.

There are many things of that type in your Bible that are misinterpreted. Your fundamentalists see this as people rising up from their graves, out of the sea and everywhere to become their physical self. This is not true and is impossible. It is against all of the laws of nature. Once the physical body, man or animal, becomes dormant and ceases to have life in it, then nature begins to take it back into its bosom. To return it from once it came. That is what "Dust thou art to dust returneth," means. But he also said that was not spoken of the soul. They are looking at the physical man. They do not seem to look beyond that. Still they think that they leave the body and go to heaven or hell or whatever. I do not know just how they reason this out. I do not think they do, because when you try to reason it out logically, it does not make any sense.

They say that God has the power to do anything. This is not true. There are certain laws that have been put into motion that are Laws of the Universe. These laws will not change and cannot be violated, even by Universal Mind itself.

Questioner: What does this mean, "When two or more are gathered of like mind, there in the midst of you am I"?

Zalhem: The Christ consciousness.

Questioner: So this does not have anything to do with Joshua?

Zalhem: Not really. It means that the Christ consciousness is there when they come together with like mind. The Christ Consciousness is there because they are all in harmony, in love and peace. Whenever this happens, the Christ Consciousness becomes predominate in that place or among those people. Things can happen. It becomes very strong. It develops a power, a Christ power or energy.

Questioner: So the "like mind" part is being in harmony with nature and with each other?

Zalhem: That is right. Without that you have nothing. All you would have is a group of people. When you come together with unlike minds, you have a clash which sets up a negative vibration and the Christ Consciousness cannot come forth. This does happen on your planet. It will happen regardless of the understanding of the group.

There are many that believe that Jesus himself will be there.

Well this could attract a high being, so far as that is concerned. Where this love Christ energy becomes strong, it could attract a high ego there which could do many things. This increases his or her power to perform miracles. They do happen many times, as you are well aware. Whether you know or understand the law, does not change the law. You can use that law and not realize the full understanding of it and it will work.

This is, of course, why the Fundamentalists, in many cases, have the results that they do because they do come together in the Christ Consciousness. They worship the man rather than the consciousness, but that does not change anything. As long as that love energy is there, it attracts and brings forth the Christ Consciousness or energy the energy of that consciousness. This is why some of them have the results that they do. Whether you know or understand a law does not matter, you are still subject to it. It is like the Law of Reincarnation. It does not matter whether you believe in it or not. You are still subject to it. This is the way with all of the laws.

It is better if you do understand it and how it works. Then you can be successful all of the time rather than part of the time in using the law. This is the reason that many are successful at one time and another time they are not, because they do not thoroughly understand the law they are working with. They are not creating the proper environment for that law to function in your favor.

Questioner: When you talk about the energy that is the Christ Consciousness, what colors would these energies be?

Zalhem: It would have many colors of the higher vibration. Up into the golds and the blues. Mostly in that range, including many shades in the gold and blue range. It would vary in the different shades of these colors.

It is the same as when you get into the lower vibration ranges. For instance, the red can go down into a brown, if you take it down low enough. The colors will vary with the vibrations that are set up there at the time. Usually, if one is at all sensitive, when the vibrations get up into the higher ranges, they will feel them. I am sure that you have all experienced that, at one time or another.

Questioner: Sometimes we get a particular feeling when we are about to do a certain thing. This "feeling" seems to direct us to continue on or to stop with whatever it is we are thinking or doing. Will you talk about what this "feeling" is and where it comes from?

Zalhem: This is what many of your people describe as a "gut" feeling. Your higher self is telling you that this is right for you. This is a matter of becoming accustomed to listening to your higher self. Place yourself and lower mind in sort of a neutral position and let the higher mind come through.

The more you practice that, the more effective it becomes. The more you use it, the more acquainted you become with it. The more you trust it too. We need to learn to use this higher self, to let it take over. This is what is often called our intuitive nature. Intuition comes from the higher self, not from the lower self.

Questioner: Would this "feeling" be accompanied by higher vibrations? Is this the reason that you feel good when you are in contact with your higher self?

Zalhem: Yes, this is true. When it comes from the lower self, you have the questions and doubts. This is when you try to reason out, why you should and why you should not, and continually questions come up as to whether it is right or wrong. The more you listen to that, the more confused you will become because you do not know what to do, then. As you listen and become more sensitive to your intuitive nature or your higher self, you will either get a feeling one way or the other. This is not for me or this is it.

The only way that you learn that, is by using it. Especially when we first begin to use that, the higher and lower get mixed up. We may make some mistakes. You do not do anything, without making a few errors. The more you use it, the more you become acquainted with it and the more you understand and you know the difference between the two feelings.

Your higher self can tell you "no," as well as it can tell you "yes." You soon know the difference. Sometimes you just cannot "get the feeling" for doing something. It just does not seem right for you, then it is time to back off. This "knowing" comes from the higher self. It is important to learn to use and listen to this higher self and let it take over instead of the lower self. The more we put this lower self down and learn to have control over it, the better our higher self can work. This takes time. The lower self becomes less predominant and less active, especially in a negative way, and the higher self becomes stronger and more predominant in all of your decisions in your ways of life. You determine right from wrong much easier, much quicker. You are less likely to make errors that would be detrimental to you. This is one of the things that we have been trying to tell all of you, for years.

I will extend my blessings, before leaving. I extend to each of you my most sincere love and my blessings. May each of you become more and more aware of that Christ Consciousness within you for this is contained within you, that is the love consciousness. As you become more and more aware of it and allow it to become predominate in your life, the better will be your life, the stronger will become all of your attributes such as wisdom and power. You should become a stronger individual. Your life will be sweeter. Your joy will be greater and you will begin to enjoy those attributes that are yours, given to you by your Creators.

Go in peace my beloved. Walk in peace. Be loving. Be peaceful. Be joyous. Be happy. Live your life to the fullest, as you were intended to do.

Peace beloved ones, peace, peace. Go in peace. ☸
