Teacher: Peace, beloved: Let peace reign supreme upon thy Earth. Let not your hearts be troubled, neither let it be afraid. Rather let peace reign within you for peace upon Earth will come only in this way. Peace is a state of mind brought about by the individual in his own thinking, his own being and peace can only reign supreme upon Earth as man in his own being becomes a consciousness of peace. Thou art thy brother's keeper, this be so and only in this state of consciousness will peace come about upon Earth, in man's realization that one is for all and all is for one.

By recognizing in all mankind the goodness, the Christ consciousness that does exist in all men, though it be not recognizable at the moment, yet all men strive subconsciously or consciously for the same goal—the Christ consciousness within. For this great Consciousness burns within all men whether it be recognizable or not it is there, ready at any moment to burst forth.

I say unto thee: Love ye one another. This is the one great commandment, to love ye one another. Dost thou love thy neighbor as thy lovest thyself? If thou doest this then thy path is assured. When thy Master said, "Dost thou love me?" He also said, "Dost thou love thy neighbor as thou lovest thyself? Then followest thou me." Herein lies the pitfall in your civilization today. Earth people do not love their neighbors as themselves but rather they love power and worldly possessions.

When thy Master said, "Do not lay up treasures upon Earth," He had deep meaning for this. He meant do not lay up treasures in the material for they are of very little importance in the overall existence of man. They contribute little to man's development, advancement in spiritual understanding, but they rather make of him a slave. When the Master said, "It is more difficult for a rich man to enter the kingdom than for a camel to pass through the eye of a needle," He spoke well for man becomes a slave, so to speak, to his material possessions and it is difficult for him to separate himself from the obligations of his material possessions for his spiritual development.

As man gains greater material wealth he becomes more of a slave to it and he must continually work and slave in order to maintain this material wealth that he has gained or he will lose it, so he struggles onward, attempting to maintain what he has gained and add to it and eventually he becomes enslaved and entangled in a process which he cannot eliminate himself from. Thus he has become enslaved to material things. Therefore lay up not for yourself treasures on Earth where rust doth corrupt and thieves break in, but rather lay up for yourselves treasures in the spiritual. Gain understanding and wisdom so that you may reap a harvest of peace, well-being and of understanding for no greater thing can man attain than peace of mind, of heart, of understanding and wisdom.

Today your Earth, your Earth's people, strand in a great cycle of turmoil, of confusion, of misunderstanding. Condemnation, hatred and resentment run rampant upon your Earth, among your people. Let yourselves be not a part of this but rather seek peace within, understanding and wisdom. Pray that you might attain these things; pray that your people will attain them.

Condemn not, judge not lest ye be judged and condemned, but realize that all men are created equal. Encourage that in your great country; maintain the Constitution upon which it was founded. Let not those who would change this prevail, but rather insist that your great country maintain the principles upon which it was founded.

In God we trust and all men are created equal. Each man, each individual has the right, the God-given right to choose as he would choose. Let the majority prevail, let justice prevail, let righteousness prevail. These principles were set forth by great men of their times, their country. If your civilization is to survive and succeed these principles must be kept foremost in the sight of its peoples.

Your nation, as of this date, is the greatest in this civilization and grant that it may remain as such. If the principles which your forefathers founded remain foremost in the minds of the people, if this is done it shall become the greatest civilization upon Earth and lead the civilization of Earth to great heights and shall bring it into a New Age of civilization greater than you can think or realize at this moment. Great efforts have been brought forth from some of the Great Ones of these times to assist your nation in bringing this about. But above and beyond this is needed the support of its people.

Our hopes and prayers are that this be soon, that your people, the common people, the ordinary people, will realize this and support this effort and in so doing they will bring about a great civilization which will develop far beyond what you can conceive and realize at this moment. Our great hope and prayer is that this will succeed and so it is.

Our prayers, our peace, our love and our understanding we extend to all people of Earth.

Peace, Peace, Peace. ☸
