Yaum: Good evening to you, my friends.

It is my great pleasure to come among you. I should like to extend my special greetings to my new friends here and to thank the heads of this household for accepting me into your abode.

I have been asked to say a few words to you. I know that some of you are anxious to get to your homes as your grows late, so I shall attempt to be brief. I shall not explain to you who I am as my dear sister here can do that if she has not already.

I sense a great desire among you to seek Truth, to grow in understanding and as was once mentioned to the instrument and his mate and to some others present at the time, that if a small group of sincere, interested people, are interested in coming together when it is convenient there are those of us who will be happy from time to time to share our understanding with you. Now, my friends, I do not mean to imply that I, or anyone else who might speak to you is all wise and has all answers to everything in creation. Many of us have had many lifetimes of experiences which have helped to grow in understanding and we are willing to share our understanding with you. This does not mean that you have to accept what I say or what anyone else says as Truth nor do you have to agree with us. We are only sharing and you may do with it as you choose. If you cannot accept and you wish to lay it upon the shelf for future reference, or if you wish to reject it this is your privilege and we will not be offended. The choice is yours to make and we do not attempt to make the choice for you nor to dictate to you what you shall accept or not.

Now, my friends, as you all know I'm sure, we are coming to an age or cycle. Your civilization is at a point where it must make a choice, either they shall choose the path of Light, of Love, of Understanding, of Service—service to their Creator and to their fellow man or they must choose the path of destruction or at least temporary retardment. They must again pass through another age of schooling for an attempt to again reach their goal. This is the choice of every man and of every woman. No one can make it for them; no one shall make it for them.

The day is fast approaching when the Book of Life shall be opened and each man shall have revealed to him his record. This is the time of which I speak, when the chaff shall be separated from the wheat. The day referred to by many of your peoples as the day of resurrection, but it is much misunderstood and much mis-taught by your religious organizations. As the Master you call Jesus explained at the beginning of this age, "It is well to be prepared for this time for no man knoweth the day or the hour when it shall come." But I assure you, my friends, it shall come and not in the too far distant future. I do not mean by this that it will be next month nor next year or the year after. A few years as you look forward, seems to be much greater than does the same period of years when you look backwards. Is this not so, my friends? Therefore, prepare; prepare yourselves for as the harbinger cried forth in the days gone by, "The kingdom is at hand."

Each must put forth individual effort if he wishes to grow himself. Most important of all is sincerity, sincerity of purpose for without this you will gain nothing. Attempt in every way to purify your minds, your hearts, your bodies so that you might be ready, so that you might be able to have the Christ Child born in your heart and grow to maturity so that you might be ready for the baptism of the Holy Breath.

My friends, if you do not believe that we are in the times of Revelations look closely about you and see the things that are happening. The prophecies of your great prophets are unfolding before your very eyes, yet the masses of your peoples see it not. They do not recognize what they see. They do not want to believe what they see. They do not want to believe what they see. They want to remain in their own small circle and be content with what they have. As now as was in the day of Noah, they eat, they drink, they make merry and their world is crumbling about them, yet they will not listen, they will not look. So, my friends, those who have eyes to see, let them see. Those who have ears to hear, let them hear. Those who are blind, those who are deaf to the spiritual things of life, those who choose to live the life of fantasy, the life of non-reality, we cannot help them, we can only pray that they might awaken.

But, my friends, do not feel too bad about them for this is only a temporary delay, it only means that they require more time and your God, being a just and loving God, will allow them this time. He will lovingly give them all the time they desire but to those who love their fellow man and serve their fellow man, they shall reap their rewards because they shall know a new life, a life that is so much greater than you now know that it is inconceivable to you at this moment.

Now, my friends, there are, in the search for Truth, times when perhaps you all try to search beyond your understanding, for there are many things that cannot yet be revealed because you are not yet capable of understanding and receiving. But to those who seek and search diligently, eventually all things shall be known, all wisdom will be given. So in your search be patient, have patience and work diligently for the top of the ladder is only reached by going rung by rung. Learn your lessons well as you go, use that which you know to the best of your ability, apply the Truths that you know. There is only one place to start and that is where you are standing now. This is the starting place, move on from there patiently, step by step and as long as you keep searching sincerely and are honest with yourself, you shall reach the top.

Friends, I have said enough. It has been very great to be with you. I would like to express my appreciation for being permitted to come to you in this manner and I thank each of you for patiently listening to my words. If I have been of any service to you, I am most grateful.

May each of you in your search for Truth, rapidly reach the understanding which you seek. May each of you grow in your own way, the way that is most advantageous to you to receive the truths that will help you the most in your understanding.

I call upon the great Masters of the Galaxies to now pour their blessings, and their Light forth to you. Receive ye these blessings with open hearts.

(A few words of Universal language were spoken here.)

My peace and my blessings I leave with you, my friends. Peace be with you. ☸
