Oxal: Greetings in the Light, my friends, I am Oxal.

We have been tuned into your meeting for some little time this evening. We heard your song and in your song we find that you have stated much truth, for each of you are a part of this great Creative Spirit that you call God. You are an expression of it, a part of it as is everything else. But you have been given individuality or personality. You have been given the opportunity, now that you have been created, to grow and evolve into whatsoever capacity you may so desire. It is up to you. You must set your goals and strive towards them. It is a long and narrow path. It is not easy, it requires much work. It takes eons of time to grow into an understanding, to gain the knowledge and wisdom that is necessary to even begin to comprehend the vastness and the greatness of the great Creative Spirit. Time as you view it is much different than the time that is actually involved in the process of a creation.

Any one person upon our craft, and there are many thousands, could stand upon the surface of your planet and easily perform any of the miracles that are described in your religious histories. I do not mean to brag about our development for we have a long way to go yet, and at our stage of development, our comprehension of the vastness and the greatness of this great Creative Spirit is only slight. The Infinite is not easily comprehended by the finite. In fact, the finite mind can only faintly comprehend the greatness, the vastness of this great Creative Spirit that has created all that you see and feel and hear.

It has created the ground, the planet upon which you walk and has created millions and billions of others. It has created galaxies, universes and anything that you find in space is a creation of this great Creative Spirit whose energies flow through all of these things keeping them in action so long as they are serving their purpose. When they are no longer serviceable, the destructive forces take over and they are returned from whence they came. Creative Spirit does not hold on to anything after it has lost its usefulness. Therefore, you have two forces working, yet these forces originate from the same source, the forces of construction and the forces of destruction.

You are now moving into a new era, to a new age, so to speak, of which I am sure you are all aware. In this new age there will be a different set of postulates than those that were created for the last age, the one that you are now leaving. The teachings that will come about in this New Age will be of a new order and they will bring forth a better civilization, one which accepts responsibility and carries it out. A new type of thinking will develop where cooperation will become a way of life, where man's thoughts will not be for himself, for self-gain, for self-recognition. But he will become a selfless man to a great degree, and he will learn to serve selflessly, not expecting recognition or something in return for his service. His primary thought will be to serve in any manner that will lift all humanity and further the evolution of man.

This shall bring him closer to the understanding of what evolution is all about, what man's purpose is and should be in life. He will become a somewhat different species and this is what evolution is about, the growth and advancement of mankind and growing in love and understanding for one another.

The great Master that came in the age that is just passing, gave many truths. He gave the laws that man should live by, he demonstrated the power of love. This was his greatest mission, to demonstrate to man the real meaning of love. Yet few were able to comprehend and were able to follow his recommendations. Much of his teaching was distorted by those that would gain power over their fellow man. Mankind, in some respects, was misled through these changes. But soon He will return and these things will be made clear.

He is now preparing for his return. Many of his disciples are now upon your planet preparing the way. He has many more disciples now than the twelve he chose here upon the earth and many of these are now working diligently to prepare the way for his coming and that is not in the too far distant future. We hope that He shall be received much more graciously than He was in his last journey here.

But He and his disciples, his fellow workers, shall establish a New Order upon your planet, one of justice, of brotherly love, of responsibility. Man will know his responsibilities, he will know that he, and only he, is responsible for his own actions. He will understand the law of retribution and abide by it. All of the misleading teachings of the past will be corrected and clear-cut information and teachings will come forth. Then man will know and understand where he stands and what he must do if he is to enter upon the Path and become one of responsibility, one who can be given some of the greater tasks to do.

The Brotherhood is anxious for this New Age to get started. There is great need in the Brotherhood for willing workers, for those who are sincere, who are selfless, who are willing to serve.

So, my friends, if you would be one of these, then follow the teachings of this great Master and those who really serve Him. There are thousands and thousands upon your planet who claim to serve Him but who are teaching contrary to His teachings. They are teaching myths that have been created. But soon these things will fade away and man will know the truth and the truth shall set him free.

I leave you, my friends, by extending to you the love, the peace, and the understanding of my people.

I am Oxal. ☸
