Zalhem: Greetings to thee, my friends, I am Zalhem.

My children, I realize that there are many things that you of Earth who are seeking wish to accomplish, obstacles that you wish to overcome. It is of these things that I should like to speak about for a few moments.

My beloved friends, man possesses a number of qualities which if used in the proper way can bring him great success in his accomplishments. By success I mean success in accomplishing your ideals, your needs. One of the greatest of these is will. That which you will to accomplish or to do, you can do, but many confuse the desire with the will. To desire something is not to accomplish it but if one has a strong will he may accomplish that which he sets out to do.

Another great asset which man has but needs to develop, needs to become conscious of, is faith—faith in himself, faith in his fellow man and above all faith in the Father. Yes, even going beyond that by having a complete knowing. Many believe that they have faith but in reality they have only a small degree of faith and when things do not occur at the time they believe that they should, their faith begins to wane, begins to grow weak, they allow doubt and fear to creep in. Many in trying to be of great faith, do not realize that with faith there must also be some action in many cases.

Answer to prayer, beside requiring faith and will, in many cases requires also some action, in fact in most cases. For instance, one may have faith, faith that one can be healed and one may be healed. They may be healed of physical weaknesses, of soul weaknesses or of mind weaknesses or of all three. And preceding this healing if some action is not taken, one may soon find themselves returning to their original situation or even something more undesirable.

So have faith, my friends, have faith in your God and in your fellow man and when you pray, pray knowing that your prayers are heard and that they are being answered. But if the answer does not come at the moment you desire, do not falter in your faith, do not lose courage, but ask and ask again and be patient and loving and understanding. For often in your carnal mind you do not see things clearly and often the answer as you see it to be beneficial through the eyes of the carnal, would not be for your highest good. But if you hold steadfast in your faith, in due time you will see the answer come in a much more desirable way, a much more beneficial way than you had conceived.

So it is very important, my friends, that you cultivate these things, to become strong in them. You must have the will to do, the will to know, the will to accomplish. Will is man's greatest healer. Will combined with love can accomplish miracles in the way of healing and many other ways.

My beloved children, I hope that in this little talk you might see more clearly the necessity to grow in these things and that you will grow strong in all of these aspects every hour and every day as time passes.

May the peace, the love and the understanding of the Great Ones reach each of you this night and through their love for you and your love for your Heavenly Father and for your fellow man, raise you to new heights in faith, in will and in love.

Go in peace. ☸
