Teacher: Peace be with you, my beloved friends.

As the present civilization of man upon Earth is drawing to a close, man finds himself in dire need of preparation for what he faces, many civilizations have come and gone upon planet Earth. Each having its rise and its fall. Each one has failed to reach the goal for which Man strives. The wisdom of mankind has been lacking. His choices have been unwise, therefore he has met each time with destruction, brought about by his own actions. And again Earth man has reached the point where either he shall survive by the fruits of his own efforts in his search for the higher ideals and knowledge, or he shall perish by his lack of these things.

But, beloved friends, a new specie of man shall emerge from the remnants of this civilization. Man will no longer have the opportunity to reach his goal upon this planet, but must return to another to work out his evolvement, but this new species of man that will come out of the change will be somewhat different than man is known today upon your planet. He shall be a being of somewhat different physical structure. He shall be a being of great wisdom, of love. He shall live with no other thought then to serve his creator and his fellow man.

He shall bring about justice in all things and life will become a paradise. He shall live in great joy and peace and many things will become known to him. He shall travel the universe in craft that shall be capable of traveling between planets and systems. He shall be friendly with his brothers upon other planets and shall exchange knowledge and services. Great shall be his powers, great shall be his service and great shall be his love.

Therefore, beloved ones, seek ye the enlightenment that will carry you into this new Age, that ye might receive and experience these things. The rewards for your efforts shall be great, much greater than you think or realize. Take advantage of every opportunity to prepare yourselves, that ye may receive His greatness.

Peace be with you, beloved ones, peace, ✿
