Oxal: Greetings in the light, my friends, I am Oxal or Arcturus.

If you, my friends, could observe your planet from our vantage point for a time, I am sure that each of you would be amazed beyond your greatest imagination. The turmoil and the unrest is increasing day-by-day. It is amazing how little is known by your masses of what goes on behind the scenes. You are given exactly what those in control want you to know, and this is not only true in a few nations upon your planet, but it is prevalent all across the surface, in all nations. The confusion that exists among Earth people is great, yet we see an awakening occurring throughout your planet. More and more people are beginning to reason for themselves, are beginning to wonder why things are as they are.

They are awakening to a need for something greater. They are awakening to the fact that life is not what it should be. Therefore, you have turmoil, chaos, and this shall increase, as we observe it, and it may reach great heights of chaos among Earth people unless enough people awaken to the real truth. It is sad that conditions of this nature should exist among any people, but only things of this nature can result where greed, lust, and hate exist, and unless these things are brought to a minimum and controlled, a great amount of suffering shall result.

The world leaders at this time, are greatly perplexed. They have great decisions resting upon their shoulders, and they fear the results of their decisions. In the past, it has been the belief of the dominant powers upon this earth, that wars and strife were a necessity to control the world economy and world population. But now they find themselves in possession of powers, of energies, that they fear they cannot control, once they are loosed. They are pondering today, ways and means of expediting controlled wars. Yet, a fear lurks within their hearts that this control might possibly get out of their hands, and they know full well the results that will follow once the energies that they have, are released in any quantity.

So, you see, my friends, how things stand today on planet Earth. Some of the strong minds who have insisted that these periods of chaos are a necessity, are now weakening somewhat, through fear of their own destruction. Yet, that great desire that burns within them, to control mankind, to gain power through wealth, this desire still burns strongly within them, and thus the conflict goes on. The destiny of Earth man to a point, lies in his decisions, decisions that he will make in the near future.

So, beloved friends, each of you can do your part, in easing this situation that lies before Earth man, and I need not go into this, for I know that each of you know and realize the individual responsibility of each of you, and what you can do, for peace must always start with the individual person.

I extend to each of you, my peace, my love, and my blessings, and to each of you I extend the love and understanding of my people.

I am Oxal. ✿
