Oxal: Greetings in the light, my friends, I am Oxal, of Arcturus.

Our observation of your conversation here has been interesting. We are aware of much growth taking place among you. Many of your experiences do not have much meaning to you as yet, but they shall, for by experience shall you learn the truth.

The seeking of truth, my friends, requires efforts, stick-to-itiveness, to use your terms, for your persistence, in your search, is the thing that will bring you results. Many of your people start the search for truth, but they find that it takes effort, patience, and above all, great sincerity. Many of them fall by the wayside when they discover that truth must be earned. They desire it providing they do not have to work to get it.

Nothing comes to you or to anyone without effort, and many times, great sacrifices are necessary to gain the truth and the experience that will bring you into a higher understanding. This is as it should be, for things gained without effort, without sacrifice, are not held dear, are not appreciated and are soon lost. It is the things that we gain through hard, sincere efforts and suffering that really benefit us, that brings soul growth, that is permanent.

Works without faith are valueless. We could give you many demonstrations that would convince you of the many things of which we speak, but this would only be temporary. For only the things that you gain through your own efforts, your own searching, your own suffering, must establish the faith in you that is necessary to reach the heights to which you aspire.

To he, or she, that see and witness, it is no problem to believe. But he who sees not, and believes through faith, faith in his creator and his fellow man, to him there shall come great awakenings, great experiences. Prove these truths to yourself by demonstration, by putting them to work for you. You are not asked to accept a truth, without first trying it. To see it demonstrated by another, does not qualify you. You, yourself, each of you as an individual must make these truths, and let them manifest in your own life, building your own glorious light for all to see.

All of you have heard and discussed much the powers of love. I believe it is clear in the minds of each of you the power contained in this force, this energy known as love. Now is the time, beloved ones, to prove it to yourself. You have been told all about it. You have heard the experience of others who have demonstrated the power of love. What more can be said or done, except, for you, as individuals, to take it, and put it to work for you? Many times I have asked you this questions. What is the greatest power of the universe, of all creation? And you have answered me "Love." Why not try it? I say again my beloved friends, the time grows short.

Soon, this great power shall be needed by you. You shall need it to bring about your own salvation, as well as that of others, for many events portend. And many of these events, although necessary, will not be pleasant for the people of Earth.

For in these events, the forces of darkness must perish, they must be banished from your Earth for all times. And out of this must come, a new age of love, harmony and understanding, an age where each shall live, to benefit his brother and not himself. Where in all problems the answer sought shall not be what is best for me, but what is best for all concerned.

How often in these times is a problem attacked in that manner? Let us visualize today, in the disputes that arise between your industries and your workers, just assume that they should sit down around the table, everyone concerned only with that which would benefit all. What solution could we arrive at that would be most beneficial for all concerned? What would be the results, if love and harmony existed around this table, and around all of your conference tables? Can you visualize how much different your world would be? Do you agree with me, my friends?

Where there is love, Peace and harmony, even the very atmosphere about you changes. All creation about you becomes harmonious. Nature becomes less violent. Nature reacts directly with the vibrations sent out by its people.

If your masses and your leaders could realize this, I wonder what the reaction would be?

Why do you suppose nature is gradually becoming more violent around your planet. Earthquakes are becoming more prevalent, tornadoes, windstorms, all of these things are gradually becoming more and more negative and nature reacts accordingly.

The catastrophe that comes to your planet does not come from your creator. It is the result of the wrong thinking and the wrong doing of your people. Your creator does not judge you. You judge yourself by nature's own laws. That is why we have continually said, that if enough love and light could be established among the masses of your people, that much, very much of the future disaster could be avoided.

Now, my beloved friends, I think I have rambled far enough. I leave you by extending to you, our love and our understanding. May the Peace of this great creative spirit rest with each of you.

I am Oxal. ☸
