Teacher: My greetings to you, my friends, I come to you in love and in understanding. May the peace of the great ones be with you.

My friends, as you seek to discover your pattern or your path that may bring you to your awakening, it is good to remember that you can best follow this path or discover this path which is so important to you, by keeping uppermost in your consciousness, the necessity of high ideals, of purity and the realization that you are seeking truth, and that in your seeking you realize that this truth is to be found within you. The person who madly seeks, who desperately dashes here and there, seeking to find the truth always somewhere beyond, or in the consciousness of another, this person will never find truth, for truth is not found intellectually, but it is found within your own being. For you are a spiritual being, and spiritual truth will only be found by searching spiritually.

Each person has the key within him that will open the door to truth, and this key is found only through true meditation, by becoming aware in the silence, and when we have found this truth, beloved friends, when you have opened this door, you will know. You will not believe, you will know. You will no longer depend upon faith, for you will have passed the phase of faith, and you will have reached a degree of knowing, of knowing. You will have looked into other dimensions and you will have seen truth. Faith is a wonderful thing, but it is again only a stepping stone to higher understanding, to higher knowledge.

What you are really striving for now, my friends, is the stage of knowing, and this too, is only a stepping stone to higher understanding,

So you see, we move ever onward to higher and higher understanding, but for the present it is for Earth people to acquire somewhat of an understanding between themselves, to understand a little bit about themselves, who and what they are, and to be able to understand their brother enough to live side by side with him in peace and in love. But many of you are seeking higher understanding than this, therefore I mention these other things.

Strive always to keep your thinking and your consciousness pure. Cast out all thoughts of resentment, of criticism, of jealousy, of false desires. Try to know and to see perfection. Try to see beyond this illusory environment in which you now find yourself. Try to avoid the things that lower your consciousness. Rather bring into sight those things which raise you to new heights of consciousness, of understanding, for these, my friends, are the things that will bring you what you seek, peace, health, prosperity. These things are all apparent to the higher consciousness, for in pure consciousness or pure knowing, all things are in harmony, and harmony is what you are seeking.

Peace be with you, my friends, Peace be with you.

I go. ❀
