Teacher: Greetings to thee, beloved ones. May the Peace of the infinite one rest deeply in the hearts of each of you now.

Beloved ones, as you approach the coming changes that await your peoples, try to know and realize that, what is to come, is for the good of all mankind upon your planet. There is much, so very much lacking in the consciousness of Earth men. But, as we observe from our vantage point, we can see among many of your peoples a broadening of this consciousness.

Man must soon come into his own, into a greater concept of what he is, and why he is where he is. Man grows only by experience, as you well know, and if Man is to grow and expand, first his consciousness must widen. It must widen into greater realizations of what and who he is. Man must gradually grow into the consciousness of creation, gradually come into the realization that he is a creator in his own right. Every thought, every act is a part of creation.

He must come into a realization of the powers that lie within him, the powers of his own mind to create, for beloved ones, you create the very situation in which you find yourself, but you do not realize it in your present consciousness.

Man must rise up and up and up in his consciousness, expanding ever into greater realizations.

Many false concepts have been taught in your civilizations. Man has been taught that he has been created with his limitations, that he has no control over them. But, believe me when I say, my friends, that you are not limited. The only limitation is that which you place upon yourself. Man must learn to have faith in the power of creation within himself, or what you term God. Very little conception does Earth man have of this entity which he calls God. We do not prefer to use that term, but it is of no great importance, for the term which you attach matters little. But in reality this is a great force which permeates the universe, which permeates galaxy upon galaxy. Man's concept and this power extends to every individual throughout creation. Man is only an extension of this great power you call God. You are a part of this, and this great intelligence functions in every man, woman and child. Man must learn to let it dominate his person, to let it come forth and express as good, as it was intended, and come into a realization that this great power functions through him. It functions equally through all creation. It is no respecter of persons. It neither rewards or punishes.

This great universal power functions only by law, and man will either function by the law or he will not function by the law. And only through the reaction of the law will man reap his rewards or his punishment. It is very necessary at this time that man must be brought these realizations if he wishes to progress with this planet. For man can only grow by his own efforts, his own experiences—each experience a stepping stone to greater understanding, if he will but attempt to grow by these experiences. View them positively, attempting to learn the lesson that each experience brings to you, and give thanks that this is so.

Only as man begins to understand and know himself will he grow in his attitude toward his fellow man. For when man begins to have an understanding of himself, then he begins to understand all mankind, and a consciousness of love and understanding begins to develop in him. And as this consciousness spreads among the people of Earth, a race consciousness begins to take root, and man will learn to live in peace. He shall learn to live side by side with his brother man in peace and love, and no more will wars exist, nor hatred and greed, but all mankind shall find his thoughts, his deeds, his actions, directed toward the good of all mankind, and not toward a group, a nation, or any race of man. The only reason wars are brought about, is that man does not understand his fellow man. Man functions selfishly; greed breeds in the hearts of man, and consequently, chaos results.

To the younger generation of your planet I would suggest that you have open minds and open hearts, with an attitude of reverence. For in your hands lies the future of your planet. Take time occasionally to look out into the heavens and marvel at its wonders. How can you do this without feeling great reverence for the creator of all this? Have you ever pondered these things, have you ever wondered how this could be? How could anything be planned so precisely, for the millions of stars and planets in their orbits, their locations, each moving in its path, regularly, precisely to the second. Do these things come about by chance?

No, my friends, nor does anything happen by chance.

You do not live in an atmosphere of chance. Everything that happens in your life is not by chance. You are the creator, and you have made it so through your thinking and your actions. No, no, beloved ones, chance does not exist, but it is important that you realize this. For as you do this, you become aware of your thoughts and actions, because you realize that every thought and every deed is a form of creation, and will act and react, perhaps not today, perhaps not tomorrow, but sometime in the future, because through the power of your subconscious, the actions will occur. You have created the situation.

This is well to remember, but it is not anything to fear. Fear is a creation of mans thinking, for there is nothing to fear but fear itself. For as you emanate thoughts of fear, you only instill deep in your own subconscious a great fear power, to act and react. It is well to bring out into the open all fears that you possess. Face them squarely, and dissolve them, by replacing in your own subconscious, thoughts of the opposite nature that will subdue them in time.

May the peace, love and understanding of the great spirit of creation, enfold you and bring to you the peace and understanding that is yours.

Peace. ♣
