Zalhem: Greetings to you, my children, I am Zalhem.

It saddens me and those of Circle R that such things as this occurs among our children. Yet we hold naught against you, for we have a love for you that is not yet understood by you, something that you have not yet experienced. It is a love without condition. It could be termed an unconditional love. This is an experience which you have not yet had, but we had hoped that some of you, if not all of you, would experience.

It is an experience that comes only when many things have been resolved and you are able to reach higher states of consciousness where this can be experienced.

If my brother man has wronged me and he comes to me in humility and asks my forgiveness, I am bound by this love to forgive him from the bottom of my heart and then lay aside that wrong forever.

Not many Earth people have experienced this love, therefore their love is usually conditional and we understand that. But if man is ever to solve his problems and his differences, he must work toward this end. But each of us must use the tools that we have at hand at the moment and how we use the tools that we have at hand at this moment, will depend on how much peace and joy (love) we find within our own hearts.

In reality the ego is satisfied in having gained an advantage over another or having established our rightness or wrongness. The only true satisfaction comes from knowing that we have done right to the very best of our ability and our understanding. Situations of this type, unless they are resolved in love and understanding, cannot possibly do anything but retard our growth. If we would grow upon the Path, then we must conquer ourselves. We must not let self or ego get in our way.

There is only one thing that conquers, my beloved children, and that is love. When your Master said unto His people, "Love ye one another," He was not uttering idle words. These words, my friends, carry a great truth, a very great truth and unless you are able to do this, your progress will be very slow. In fact, in time it will reverse itself.

Why is your world in the situation that it is today? Why, beloved ones? Because you have not loved one another, you have pursued the satisfaction of self. Each individual is responsible to himself and if he is to solve his problems then he must search his soul and find the root of his problem. O you can deceive yourself if you wish, for a long time but sooner or later you will have to face the problem.

You cannot deceive the Brotherhood for they know your innermost aspirations. They cannot be deceived. That is how they know when one is ready for the Path. They need not be told, they know, for it is all very plain to them in the aura that surrounds you.

So it is very important that everyone be honest with themselves. Face up to what you need to do and then do it. It is all upon the shoulders of the individual. We cannot do it for you, we can only aid you insofar as seeing that the opportunities come to you that will allow you to accomplish that which you have earned the right to accomplish.

Ponder these things well, my children, ponder them well.

My love and my blessings I give unto you. Go in peace, go in peace, go in peace. ♣
