Teacher: Greetings to you, my beloved friends. I greet you with the love, light and the understanding of the infinite spirit of creation. Why does man continually find that he is faced with a choice, so to speak? We find that this is true throughout creations. Man has always found that he must make a choice. You see, my beloved friends, that is why you are here, for had you not chosen to do so, this would not be. The only reason that you find yourself in this chemical, physical world of creation is because long ago, eons of time back, you chose as did many others to experience in the unknown. Much caution was given, great efforts were made by those of higher understanding and love as to the results of these experiences, but still you chose to have this experience.

And so from higher and more pleasant planes of existence, many millions descended for an unknown experience, and that is why we find in existence today the worlds and worlds of life as you now see it. These things did not come about in moments or hours or years of time. Neither will man return to his original state of existence in a short time as you know it. Yet time is eternal. Time does not pass, you are merely moving through time. And so, as the descension took place, so must the ascension, and man is climbing back on the ladder of evolvement rung by rung. If this picture at this time could be seen and understood by each of you, it would make quite an amazing story. Some have climbed the ladder of progress more rapidly than others, yet each in his or her own way is progressing step by step.

The decisions that we make as we gradually climb back towards our goal, are a determining factor in the speed of our progress. Never the less, each individual is climbing ever onward and upward, sometimes falling back for a time and then again proceeding. As we find ourselves attempting to make progress upon the wheel of incarnation, we must learn to face all situations honestly, fairly and squarely. Take each decision deep within our consciousness, and there we shall find a true answer if we are sincere and honest in our seeking.

You see, beloved friends, when the creator breathed us forth, He endowed us with this great God-like ability to take all things into the core of our being, of our a oneness, of our allness with creation and when this point has been reached all things come into balance and we see clearly. And as we see clearly, our decisions are made and things begin to happen that brings us into harmony with creations and that, dear friends, is most important. For all creations must function in harmony if we are to have well being, peace of mind and harmony within ourselves.

Man has allowed himself to become out of tune with creation or nature and when man is out of tune with creation, he is out of balance and he does not function as he should. But rapidly man of Earth is beginning to glimpse the importance of these laws, and he is beginning to attempt to bring himself to a point where he will strike this cord of harmony. When this has occurred with enough people upon the Earth place, a great difference will be seen in the function of Earth activities. Man will find he has reached a new plane of existence, a new level of understanding, a step nearer to his creator and his perfection.

I leave you now, my friends, but before I leave I am going to pass among you and place upon the heads of each of you my special blessing. With your permission I will proceed. It is done.

May the love, light and the understanding of the infinite creator rest in the hearts of each of you, and may each of you reach unbelievable heights in your search for understanding.

Peace be with you, beloved one, Peace, love and understanding. I go. ✨
