Teacher: Greetings to you, and my blessings, my beloved friends.

It is the first time that I have had the privilege of speaking to this group. I shall only take a few moments of your time, but I should like to state that I am very close to one of you here, tonight, and have been through many years of your sojourn upon this planet.

I wonder, my beloved friends, just how serious you are, in considering the fact that it is necessary for you to prepare yourselves for the great coming changes that are to take place on planet Earth, in what we, of the other realms of life, consider a very, very great advancement, for both planet Earth and your solar system. I know that there are those who state that they shall not be around to see these changes take place. But, I say to you, my friends, that all of you shall be around and witness these great events. You shall be either in the physical, chemical vehicle that you now possess, or you will be in your electrical body; nevertheless, all of you shall be here to witness these great changes and regardless of which stage of life you are in, preparation still remains a necessity.

For those of you who shall experience these changes in the chemical body, a greater awareness and preparation is necessary. These things, my friends, have not been talked about so many times for naught. We, who are able to view this from, shall us say, a greater vantage point, perhaps have gained a greater perspective of the vastness and the greatness of this event, or events. Man must and will, if he is to continue, take on a whole new consciousness, both scientifically and spiritually. He shall reach out, expanding his consciousness to take in greater and greater knowledge and understanding of the universe and of the vast expanse that lies ever out, ever wider, ever larger, bringing to him knowledge and wisdom in ever greater abundance. He shall come into an understanding of the functioning of universal laws, and he shall learn to master these laws. He shall learn that within man himself lies the power, the wisdom and the understanding to use these great universal energies and laws to bring about great good for himself and his fellow man.

But, friends, do not take these things lightly. But rather become reverent, serious and sincere in your search for the understanding that will enable you to move into the changes that are to come to bring about a new Age, that is about to blossom forth for your planet and its people who will prepare themselves for its coming. Some of the events are not going to be pleasing to you but, if you shall begin to expand your consciousness and your awareness, you can rise above the unpleasantness, and great help awaits those who are sincere and are willing to do their part in the transition of your planet.

When these times have passed—and the remnants of the civilization shall consist of those who have accomplished these things—they shall build a civilization upon planet Earth that is far, far beyond what any of you could possibly conceive of at this moment. Man that remains, shall blossom forth into a new species of mankind through the help of great, sincere beings who are anxious to see planet Earth take its place, its rightful place, in the Confederation of the Planets and join in the great Brotherhood of Man, where man realizes his oneness with all creation.

And this realization is of far greater value than anything else you could possibly have.

It has been my very, very great privilege to have this opportunity to spend a few moments with you in this manner. May the Peace and the love of all the great ones become a part of you. My Peace and my blessings I wish to leave with you. Peace to you my friends. Peace to you.

Peace. ☸
