These lectures are not of a religious nature but rather deal with the science of human potential and evolution. This document is a direct transcription from the original recording. Samuel: Greetings to you, my children. I am Samuel.

Since you have discussed, somewhat, those who are here serving you and doing work for the benefit of your people, I should like to carry this discussion a little farther and touch upon the different types of people that are serving in this capacity.

Those of whom you were speaking, such as Raphael, are those who have come up through incarnations of your civilization and have advanced in their occult studies. They have been through certain degrees of the mystery schools and are now here working with the Brotherhood as missionaries and serving in whatever way they are directed.

Most of these are quite advanced in the occult knowledge. They have not reached the ultimate by any means, but they have reached a state where many of the laws are known to them and used by them. Yet, they live among men of Earth and carry on a way of life and also serve. There are many of these upon your planet.

Then, there are those who have come to your planet from other areas of space to do certain service. This is, perhaps, the most difficult mission of all, for they must enter into a civilization that is foreign to them. Their memories are blocked out and they have no recollection of who they are or where they have come from, yet subconsciously, they have a problem of fitting into a civilization that does not function in the manner to which they have been accustomed.

They have great difficulty in fitting into your monetary system and into your "survival of the fittest" way of life. They often develop health problems and many other problems with which they are faced are very difficult for them and they know not why. They find themselves going about certain ways of life doing certain things which they are impressed to do or they feel that they must do.

Many of these become lost in your vibration and are completely unsuccessful. Many of them only reach a very young age and are withdrawn. There are many who come this way, and the reason that there are so many is that the chances of success is not very good.

Few of them succeed in carrying out their full mission because of the reasons that I have just stated. So many are sent but few succeed. Those that do have many difficulties.

Questioner: Are you talking about the "Wanderers"?

Samuel: I believe this expression has been used in reference to these people.

Then there are those who come here by craft and are landed here, and those from some of the higher realms who manifest here. Bodies are created for them that are suitable to your environment. These come fully aware of what their mission is and who they are, but seldom do they ever make themselves known. If they do, it is, perhaps to one or two persons whom they feel and know that they can trust and in whom they can have full confidence. The greater missions and accomplishments are carried out by these. They are not affected by the environment due to the fact that they are fully conscious of what they are about, who they are and where they are from. They function until their mission is complete and then withdraw.

Questioner: Why couldn't the "Wanderers" be more aware and have a higher percentage of success?

Samuel: Because of the way they come, it is not possible. They carry out missions that the others would not want to carry out. They are lesser missions, and they are missions that must be carried out by someone who seems to be a part of your civilization. Those who come by craft have the greater missions. Those who come by the mother route have missions of a lesser nature. Perhaps, this is a poor terminology because all of the missions are important, yet, the only way that they could carry out theirs is to come the way they did. They come up through the natural route so that they have the background and so forth.

Questioner: Is it true that the "Wanderers" do this in many different systems as part of their Missions?

Samuel: There are those who continually accept missions of this type. Usually they have long periods between. They have a great desire to serve mankind and in so doing they grow in their own accomplishments and receive great benefit in knowledge, for they do not forget these experiences once they are back in their own environment.

Questioner: One would think that since they have such a low percentage of success, they would become discouraged and not keep trying.

Samuel: One who has a great desire to serve is not discouraged by failures. Where they may fail in one attempt, they may be very successful in another. They understand this when they go into the mission. I thought it might be of some interest to you to cover these phases as we see them and if this gives you a better understanding, I am glad. Perhaps there may be time when you will recognize some of these and can be of benefit and service to them. You would have to recognize these individuals by your own observation and intuitive qualities.

Now, my friends, as I leave you I extend to each of you my most sincere blessings and love. May each of you, as you go forth, find greater and greater opportunities to serve your fellow man.

Go in peace, beloved. Go in peace. ☸
