Teacher: Peace be with you beloved friends.

While I hope that I am not intruding upon you at this late hour, but with your permission I would like to say to you a few words.

Questioner: We are glad to have you.

Teacher: Thank you.

All of you are aware that your planet at this time is in the process of a great change. I do not wish to bore you with more predictions or conversation concerning this matter, but the very conditions that exist today make it very important, my children, for all of you to have an understanding of what this means to you. As these changes come about, it is going to be necessary for individuals, as individuals, to bring about within themselves great changes in order that they themselves might avoid a great deal of suffering and unhappiness.

Very few Earth people will take these things seriously. They have become quite smug, so to speak, in their situations, in their environments, and it is very difficult for them to realize that these things are upon them. But I say to you, my friends, you are in the last days of this age. The time of the prophecies that are written, are upon you. They are at hand, my friends. And I say with all sincerity, it would behoove every man and every woman of Earth to prepare for these times. Those of you who are aware of these coming changes and events have a responsibility to your fellow man. This, my friends, whether you realize it or not, you have a responsibility. You have a responsibility to yourselves and also you have a responsibility to your fellow man.

More and more each day events are coming about that are causing a few more of your people to become a little more aware and it is your duty to your brothers and to your God to plant seeds among the people, thought provoking seeds, that might cause them to become a little more aware or to cause them to think. To bring about in them a small spark of desire to know the truth. It is your responsibility to watch carefully, to be aware of these opportunities, for by so doing, you are serving and you are building up treasures for yourself. You are also paying off some of your debts. I wonder, if I have made myself clear?

Questioner: Yes.

Teacher: My friends, my beloved friends, you are living in such a great time when opportunities are so great to serve. How little, how very little do you realize this. These opportunities do not come often. Take advantage of these O Earth friends, for it is so important to you. If people of Earth could just get a small inkling of the meaning of brotherly love what a vast difference it would make. Ah yes. Ah yes. How little is known by Earth people of what is being done for them. Of what great sacrifices are being made in the higher realms.

Beloved children, let the Peace of the great Ones sink into your hearts. Be ever grateful to this great One for the blessings that you have, for through this gratitude shall come great Peace and great knowing, for if we are grateful for the small things in life, the greater things are inevitable. Ah yes, so shall it ever be and ever has been. For all ye who are faithful in the smaller things shall also find the greater things. Let this great Peace and love of the infinite one fill your hearts so full that there is no room for resentment, hatred, jealousy, or anything that is negative, for where dwells this love and peace these things cannot exist. Build for yourselves, build for yourselves not in the material for the now, but for the future, build for the future this spiritual knowledge and enlightenment.

I am very interested in all of you here and am with you many, many times, observing. My love for you is great. May your love for the Masters and your Creator become ever greater and brighter as you grow in his Peace and love.

I leave you, beloved children. I leave. ♀
