

Caveat: These communications are informative teaching instructions for those who seek to increase their understanding of themselves and the magnitude of the future lying before us all. These lectures are not of a religious nature but rather deal with the science of human potential and evolution. This document is a direct transcription from the original recording. Although it has been checked for obvious errors, it has not been finally edited.

Clyde: During meditation I was taken to the Halls of Learning. Pointed out to me were three Cosmic Clocks on the outside of the building.

As I recall the hands of the clocks were approximately in the positions as depicted below. All of the clocks will reach the midnight hour at the same time.

Then we went inside the building where there were several halls filled with many, many books, containing everything that was ever spoken or written of any importance or value, since the beginning of time.

I recognized some of the books. One of the several books that I recognized was "A Dweller on Two Planets" by Phyllos.

Yaum: Greetings to you, my friends. My greetings to all of you and I see we have some of our old friends back among us tonight from the East. I should like to extend my special blessings and greetings to you and I see we have one of our old members back with us tonight and I should also like to extend my special greetings to you. It is my pleasure to come among you again. It has been sometime since I have had the opportunity to speak with you. Do you have something special you'd like to talk about tonight?

Questioner: Will you please comment on Oxal's reference to the Cosmic Clock and the urgency of growing spiritually?

Yaum: Well, I would have to agree with him that the Cosmic Clock is rapidly approaching the midnight hour. Of course the Cosmic Clock does not correspond to your clock but you understand that you are coming to the close of the century and to the close of the Age. The transference into the New Age is taking place and things are changing every day, perhaps more rapidly than you realize.

For instance, your economy. How much longer can it continue without collapsing, how much more can your people take? You can only tax to a certain degree, you can only influence to a certain degree and sooner or later a change has to come. A pendulum will always swing back and forth and it is reaching its height, when it will start to swing the other way, which will mean a collapse of your present system.

Eventually you will come to a system of barter and exchange, but before that other systems will be tried first, such as other monetary systems. You know about some of your countries that have grouped together, who call themselves the Common Market, and who are already discussing and planning to set up a credit and monetary system of their own, which will perhaps be only on paper. But nevertheless it will take the place of your fluctuating and declining dollar so far as those countries are concerned. Which will affect your dollar and your country as it will no longer be the basis of the exchange. Then your government will try to prevent the dollar's decline by trying a number of things to hold it together. But eventually it will come to the point where it will be discarded.

This could be in discussion among the leaders of your economic system. That is, the setting up of a new type of currency which will have a different valuation and there will be an exchange of that for dollars. It might be decided to exchange 2 for 1, or 3 for 1, or whatever.

Questioner: What are some of the ways that we can prepare others to meet these coming changes?

Yaum: First of all I think you have to try to give them confidence in themselves, and try to bring them into a realization of who and what they are, their responsibilities to their fellow man. It is a process which of course is not accomplished rapidly, depending on the state of consciousness of the individual and you realize that each one is at a different level.

Then you try to raise him from his level, as you have the ability to tune into his level of understanding and of making a soul to soul contact with him. There you are aware of his needs and can feed him or her accordingly and can be of great help to them. Cultivate that intuition, that oneness with them where you become one with them. In other words, you try to stand in their shoes.

When working with a group one can try to raise the group consciousness by striking a happy medium, not going too far above those of lower understanding and not too far under the others so that they don't feel that they are not receiving anything. It is a difficult situation yet it can be done. I think that as you work with these groups and become in rapport with them, you will automatically get the feeling of what they need. Of course some people you cannot help as they are looking for someone to lean on and to unload their problems on and to draw strength and energy from. One can waste a lot of energy and time on people of that kind and gain nothing at all.

Questioner: Is there an increase in the number of people who are truly searching?

Yaum: There are more people awakening in the last few years to the realization that there are two ways to go and that they must make a choice. But many of them are having great difficulty in making this choice as they have created a materialistic god of their own. Man's god can be that which he desires most. It is difficult to let go of the old and turn to the new.

Questioner: You have given us many practical suggestions about preparing for the future concerning food storage, health, economics, spiritual development, et cetera. Can you comment further on this?

Yaum: The most practical thing that I would suggest is to develop one's self. Because anything that is of the physical nature can't ever be certain, whether it is real estate, money, gold or whatever. You see there are many things that can happen to take these away, but one's spiritual growth and self-development cannot be destroyed in any way. If I were to choose between having money in the bank or having it in something real at this time. I would prefer having it in something real because the real property can always be used. Land can be used to support oneself with food or a house to dwell in, but money in the bank, as you say, can be swept away very easily as some of your people learned many years ago.

Questioner: How much time may elapse before something disastrous to the banks may occur?

Yaum: This is difficult to pinpoint. It will depend some on the events. I do not feel that the time is too far off when your monetary system is going to become very, very ill. This could happen very suddenly because situations build up without the average person noticing it until all at once it reaches the breaking point and things collapse and it is too late to do anything about it.

Questioner: Are there people and structures on the moon?

Yaum: No, not as has been implied by many. There is a very negative form of life there but not as you know life and there are these forces who use the moon. This will change too, with the New Age. There has been some activity as a base there, of the good forces, but mostly it has been the negative forces who are responsible for the structures there. This has been known for centuries by those who were advanced in the occult studies. But the moon has never supported a civilization as you know it. There has been activity there and it has been used by the negative forces.

Questioner: Will you please comment on the situation in the Middle East?

Yaum: It is still very doubtful if any concrete agreement will be reached there. We had hoped an agreement could be reached but our hopes for that are fading. It is difficult to bring these people together in such a way that they are able to give and take enough to bring about a satisfactory agreement, as there is too much greed. No one wants to give up anything, but then events or things are pretty much on schedule.

You are going to see more and more activity in your fault lines within the next four, five or six years. The activity will increase and there will be some very devastating earthquakes and volcanic eruptions. The weather patterns are continually changing and will be going back and forth from one extreme to another.

The conjunctions of the planets will have some effect on these things although the effect is not immediately at the time of the conjunctions. The effect on the fault lines, etc. could be two, three or four months either way, before or after the conjunctions. The conjunctions cause extreme pressures of both repulsion and attraction which puts stress upon the earth and will cause your fault lines to slip. It is like putting stress on them through the magnetic lines of force, the same as the moons magnetic lines of force affecting the tides. So when you get several planets in conjunction, the magnetic force is increased, you see, and the influence and the effect becomes much greater.

Questioner: Please comment on the situation between China and Russia.

Yaum: It does not look like it is going to get any better and eventually it will come to blows. It is pretty much a foregone conclusion that this will eventually happen. Their boundary lines are only a part of the problem. There is great conflict there between their ideologies. This has gone on for a long time and is building up and will finally come to a climax.

I do not believe that the recent events between the two countries will change the ill-feeling between them too greatly as there is too much difference in their opinions and desires. Russia would like to have some of China's territory to expand in and China does not want to give it to them as they need it for themselves. It looks like this political conflict will never be settled.

All of this is a part of the Middle East situation and the whole thing will come into one great conflict eventually, I'm sure. It is starting to come to the boiling point. We had hoped for some time for some kind of mutual agreement in the Middle East that might ease the situation, but it does not look like this is going to happen, although they are still talking about it and influences are still being used to try to bring this about. But the chances of it happening are getting less and less. But eventually there will have to be intervention by the Higher Forces, otherwise you would wipe out your whole civilization.

Questioner: Is Mong Ling working in your area?

Yaum: No, he is not. I understand that he has returned to this planet, but at this point I do not know what his mission is. His past work here was such that it was not recorded in your Bible history but his work was perhaps as important as the others. All of us do not get written about in your histories but that does not affect us.

Questioner: Will there ever be a war fought on American soil again?

Yaum: Not as such although it is very possible that with your modern warfare you may be affected, but not a war where you have physical battles. In the next war you will not have too much of that, but you may get a few missiles.

Questioner: How can I make greater contact with my Higher Self?

Yaum: This can only be accomplished through your own daily efforts and devotion; each day going within and as you practice this, with dedication, you will go deeper and deeper. This does not occur over night, you know. It takes time as one would not be ready to just go right into this. It is something that has to be accomplished gradually and not suddenly and only through practice and devotion can this be accomplished, this entering into the inner sanctums.

Questioner: Our beloved brother in Detroit has asked us to give you his love and gratitude.

Yaum: I would like to extend my greetings and love to him and perhaps someday we can be together like this again. It has been a long time since he has been in one of our gatherings. Perhaps someday this can come about again. Extend to him my love and my greetings.

Now, my friends, I must leave. I have overstayed my time. It has been my most sincere and great privilege to have spent this time with you. As I leave I want to extend to each of you my most sincere love and blessings.

I ask that all the Great Ones pour forth their love and their peace upon you. May all of you one day be able to join with them. Go in peace, my friends. Peace, peace.
