(Before Joseph spoke he made a number of symbols. Among the first that he did, or the very first, was the circle and the cross, which he customarily does. It was noticed, for the first time, that he made an "R" in the center of the cross. This he did also at the end of his talk.)

Joseph: My greetings to you, beloved ones, I am Joseph.

I know that you have been very curious to know more about the symbol that you have designed through impression. I will say only a few words tonight concerning all of this for we had planned to give you much more but in a different way.

This we had planned to do before this time but it has not been possible to do so thus far, due to conditions beyond our control. But we hope to be able to do this very soon.

I will say a few words concerning the symbol. You have followed well this design, those who were responsible for that. It is as we would have it for all of the details were important, even to the type of metal that was used.

Your people know very little about the characteristics of metal other than such things as hardness, workability, heat resistance, things of this type. But the vibrations that metal carries and its capabilities of absorbing vibrations and frequencies is something that is little known to your scientists or metallurgists. Yet this can be very important in selecting a metal, depending upon what you use it for. So your impressions in choosing the proper metal were well followed.

The R in the center of this circle and cross denotes that your Center is surrounded and encircled by the vibration of the Brotherhood. And of course this carries down to the individual who wears the symbol.

You will find as time goes on, the importance of wearing this symbol, keeping it upon your person, will be more and more beneficial and it will become of much greater value to you if your awareness is kept sharp and it will help you to keep it sharp.

But as I have said, I am not going to go into any more at this time except to tell you that it can be of great value and importance to those who wear it.

As I leave you I extend to each of you the sincere blessings of love and peace of the Brotherhood.

Peace, peace, peace. ☸
