Oxal: Greetings in the Light, my friends. I am Oxal.

Again we come to you on the eve of your New Year, and I wish to extend to each of you from each of us here aboard the Otavana, our love and our greetings. We also wish you all a good year.

In approximately the year 1932, or thereabouts, a 54 year cycle began. This is approximate, as it would probably not work out to exactly that in your time. This was a cycle of violence. It began with the rise of the man you called Hitler in the continent you now call Europe. Since that time, if you recall clearly, violence has increased year by year. It has been a time of constant violence upon planet Earth. Approximately 44 years of this cycle have passed, so you still have approximately 10 years left to finish that cycle.

Much of this violence is a result of man's cruelty to man in the past, his cruelty to his fellow creatures, and his cruelty to the planet which gives him life. It is a reaction from an action, so man has reaped the results. At the end of this cycle the violence will begin to diminish. It will be passing away, so to speak, and in a few years beyond that point it will have passed and man will find himself on the threshold of a new era.

In the year to come there will be even greater violence among men. Your Mother Earth will become more violent. Earthquakes shall continue to be on the increase and many more lives will be lost as a result of these. Also, you can expect more violent atmospheric storms, more droughts and more floods. However, the early part of your coming year is going to find your inflation will ease. Prices of many of your commodities will drop slightly, but this will only be temporary and will perhaps reverse the trend in the latter part of your year.

There will develop much disagreement among your politicians in regard to solving the problems that you face, yet, they are going to find that none of these solutions will work in the end. This is well known by those who hold the purse strings of your planet. The power struggle will continue and the middle and lower classes of the world will find themselves being pressed more and more. It will become more difficult as time passes, for the burden will be placed upon them as it has been in the past. And this can only bring about disaster. It is only a matter of time.

But there is also a bright side to all of this, and this is in looking to the future. Man will be delivered from this in due time and will come into his own. There is much that could be done to lessen the things that man must face or some men must face, if he would make the necessary restitutions. The White Man of planet Earth could lessen his plight if he would make restitutions to the Red Man. This is true of other races, too, such as the black and others who have exploited neighbor races through the years. If these restitutions were made, much could be alleviated, but from our vantage point we see but small progress being made in that direction. We hope that the progress will be greater and the effort become stronger to bring about the necessary progress in this field. We are doing all that we can from here to try to influence those of planet Earth who should be making these restitutions, for we do not wish to see any man suffer. We do not enjoy this, and it is difficult to see how men can be so narrow sighted as not to be able to see the necessity for these restitutions. Yet, we find that among men the greed for power, the greed and desire for carnal things seems to outweigh all other things.

So, my friends, try to influence those who have the power to make these decisions in any way you can, mentally, by prayer, and by voice, whenever the opportunity presents itself. In so doing you will be helping in your small way. We hope that Earth man's eyes shall be opened and that he will see through eyes of justice and compassion and do what he can to right the wrongs of the past. We of the Otavana and others from other planets and other octaves of life will do what we can in trying to bring about the influences that will help in these decisions.

May each of you, as you go forth on your path, find greater peace, greater knowledge, and greater wisdom, so that you might pass through these times untouched and pure, and that you might be one of those who could help bring about the New Age of peace, of joy, and of justice for all men, and bring about peace upon Earth and good will to all things.

I extend to you the love, the light and the understanding of my people.

I am Oxal. ♣
