Yaum: Good evening to you, my friends, and greetings to you, my old friends from (name).

I should like to extend my love and my greetings to my new friends here tonight. It seems that most of us here at this time have come from a long distance. I believe I have outnumbered all of you in miles from China and have made my trip faster than any of you. Is this not right

What would you like to talk about or would you prefer a friendly chat?

Questioner: Yes. Could you tell us anything about the meeting you've just attended?

Yaum: I attend many meetings although my presence and those of my colleagues are not known to the ones that are conducting the meetings. Perhaps you could call us eavesdroppers. We must follow all of the international doings and this is one of the missions with which I work. I cannot go into much detail at this time but the meeting that I attended a few hours ago was a meeting of world powers. I do not mean the heads of governments because they are not the true world powers, they are only the tools of them. But there is a great deal of concern in these groups about the economic system, your money system and many plans are being discussed, many plans are being made for the future.

It is difficult for these people to see beyond power. They do not see anything except material possessions as being anything of value to give them power. There is considerable opposition arising in the world to these powers and many plans are being made to eliminate the oppositions and they have no mercy for anyone who opposes them.

Great plans are being made to control the people, to catalogue them, so to speak, through the sophisticated equipment they now have and being developed and improved upon day-by-day. Most of your people have no idea how much you are being catalogued at this time through various ways. Even through your credit system which has become so popular, especially in your country, they are gathering information about individuals. This is all feed into computers and records are kept of ever one and perhaps this is more prevalent in your country than in many other countries of the world. As we have commented before, it is through this system that each individual will be marked.

There are many plans being made for the development of more conflicts between nations, for profit and power for them. Your nation has been a target for many years by this group, a target to be brought more and more under their control. They have had more difficulty with your country because of the rise of the middle class. These are the ones that they are now trying to bring more and more under their control.

Questioner: Could we somehow create the spiritual strength that could bring forth someone to combat these negative forces, as happened when our Constitution was formed and later at the United Nations meeting?

Yaum: It is true that that did happen. It is my understanding that the stranger appeared at one of their international U.N. secret meetings and spoke to them. This story is available as it was given by one of your news commentators. It was the same man that appeared then that appeared during the signing of the Constitution. This was one known in your Scriptures as John, the Baptist, and for some of you who may not be aware of this I might add that he is now in a physical body upon your planet. Now about developing the spiritual strength. You can help by sending your spiritual energies. It will help those who are trying to work on the positive side, but to have your whole structure as it is today, would you want to? Many years ago if your structure could have been turned to that point into a path of a positive nature and continued on that path built upon a spiritual foundation, there would have been a great chance of bringing your civilization to a much more pleasant transition into the new Age.

But I believe that you must understand that all of these coming times are not to be looked upon as a great catastrophes, it is not. It is merely a separation of the sheep and the goats and a cleansing, a rejuvenation of your earth and its civilization. At this point it is necessary, as you have depleted your resources, your lands are depleted, the waters polluted and mother nature must rebalance the whole thing. This is what is happening and has happened many times before upon planet Earth. This is why certain lands go down and other lands come up. Those that go down will in time be rejuvenated, rebuilt. Your soils and minerals transfer to the lands and the oceans and sooner or later most of them are contained there. So in order to rebalance them, one land comes up, another goes down. The new land coming up contains all the things that are needed for man to work with again.

I do not know if this location was part of Lemuria or not, I would have to check the maps for this.

But the main thing for individuals to be concerned about at this time is for their spiritual development and helping others to do the same so that you can go through these times much easier. If you have an understanding of what is happening you have no reason to fear. Fear can be very disturbing if one does not understand what is happening and many do not because they have not been interested enough to even attempt to learn.

Questioner: What is the role of the many now teachers appearing now in the coming changes?

Yaum: You are going to find many teachers arising who will make great claims who will show great power, who will appear to be Christ himself, but examine these people well. There are guidelines to follow. Study their teachings study their actions. A great teacher does not ask his pupil to do anything that he does not do himself. He does not say "Do as I say, not as I do." You have been warned in your Scriptures that many Antichrists would appear in these days, that they would demonstrate great power, great power of healing and of other natures. But beware. I will not make personal condemnation of anyone, I will merely say to you that if you have eyes to see and ears to hear, you will soon determine who and what these people are. A great teacher, or master as you call them, does not try to build up a big following. He lets the seekers come to him. He does not drain them of their material possessions, he gives much more than he takes. I think that you will find that many of these are taking much more than they are giving and they are continually seeking followers and have others out gathering for them. No true Master of light does this.

Questioner: The international events have made me very sorrowful. Should one stay in contact with that madness or work on spiritual development? Does it help at all to know what is going on?

Yaum: I believe that one should know and be aware of these things, of what is going on. One should do what they can to help. Man has power, there is power in numbers, if he would but do something about it. The reason man finds himself in the situation he does today is because most people are followers and they are not even good followers. They just back and do not want to be a part of anything, they just let things happen, especially if they are doing fairly well monetarily.

In your country you have had the opportunity to choose your leaders through the years but you have not taken the interest to choose them wisely, to see that the proper people are selected or to run for public offices. You have allowed your government to get into the hands of evil forces. This has gone on for so long that as individuals you say that you can do nothing. But this is a poor attitude, one should at least try to do something. You may not accomplish anything but at least you've tried.

There are a few like Ralph Nader who have tried to do something and have accomplished a great deal. Even one man if he is wise enough to handle things properly, can do a great deal. If you had had more people of this type working over the years you could have had a perfect system and these negative powers could have been forced out, but most people would rather conform. It is much easier to conform and ridicule than it is to act so if we do not like a situation we should try at least, to do something about it. We may not be able to accomplish much due to a lack of power, we may not be able to get many others interested to bring about the act that we would like, but at least we should get—what do you call it?—brownie points for trying.

Questioner: What is the best way for us give our light to mankind?

Yaum: These ways could change from time to time, depending on the conditions of the various areas of your planet. Ask the Masters of light to direct it to the most needed. They can do this and this would help. If enough people could do this many situations could be corrected, but of course every little bit helps. There are many situations on your planet today that need help. Sometimes it is difficult to know just which needs it the most. It is a very fine line to determine.

Questioner: Is it true that the people have to bring forth enough light for the Masters to work with since they cannot violate universal law?

Yaum: The Masters can help up to a certain point but they cannot interfere with the evolution of another race of people. They can help by giving them guidelines and many times can interfere enough to save them from complete destruction, which has been done many times upon your planet. But your own efforts will help you more than those from the outside can because your efforts, your sincerity enters in and can be more effective. If everyone else would do thing for you, you would learn nothing as you only grow by experiencing.

Of course it is difficult in any one lifetime to see things in a long range point of view, because you see time as it exists here upon your planet and as it relates to a lifetime. And in the overall picture of time it is nothing, one lifetime is nothing. It wouldn't be equal to a grain of sand on the beach. But if you would view it from say a hundred years in your time and look back over the hundred years, it does not seem very long. This also would apply if you could look back over a thousand years, it would seem like a very short time. You could pass a thousand years in another dimension or in the astral and it would not seem more than a lifetime here because time is relative to something. Here it is relative to the rotation of the earth, to your seasons, your years et cetera. But if there was nothing to relate it to, time would be nonexistent.

Questioner: Can our teachers help us, also according to our own efforts?

Yaum: This is true. The more you do for yourself, the more the Etheric teacher as you call him, can do for you, to help you. The less you do for yourself the less he can do for you. But if you serve, try to develop spiritually seek Light and understanding and wisdom. As you seek these things sincerely, you will receive more and more help and be guided and led into situations that will bring this understanding, this wisdom and knowledge to you. One's motivation and sincerity are very important. If one in seeking for phenomena, he will not grow. But if you are truly seeking to become the Light, to gain more wisdom and knowledge, more true spiritual understanding so that you can move onward, it will come and you will be led. You will, be amazed how things will open up for you, how you will be led into certain situations certain individuals, certain book knowledge. These things are great, but the greatest of all is your own seeking within, learning to go deeper and deeper into your own consciousness, your own mind, for these are the true secrets of life.

Questioner: Sometimes I get a glimpse of the light within. Can there be a sudden experience of great light or is it a gradual growing into the light?

Yaum: This can vary with individuals. In your present state of being you are not aware of all that has happened in the past and there may be much wisdom and much knowledge there that at the moment you may not be aware of. There may have been some karma there that you needed to meet, some lessons that you needed to learn and in order to do this you came into this life with some of this knowledge and wisdom suppressed or blocked and this you did. Often this thing that has to be met, worked off or whatever is accomplished and suddenly one comes into a knowing, taking a large step at one time.

There are of often misconceptions of what is called "being born again" or having had a "revelation." There are times when a person may overflow emotionally to some teacher, some preacher and suddenly they are bubbling over with what they call the spirit and they say they have been baptized with the Holy Spirit but two months later they are back doing the same thing they were before. They have forgotten all about it. It has worn off. This is nothing more than a great emotional outburst. Then there are other times when people are truly touched and they sincerely move forward and are filled with the desire to know more. Many times these people become unstable and they want to force everyone else to do what they are doing, not realizing that each one has to go his own way. It is fine to pray for other people and many times it may bring him into a desire to grow spiritually. If one truly seeks sincerely, prays and meditates and tries to purify his mind, body and soul, he will come into an understanding and will have Light experiences. He is bound to grow. Some will move faster than others and in different ways. Each is an individual and must grow in his or her own way. What path is right for one may not be right for another, that is why there are so many paths, different opportunities and they are all good, they all have their good parts and they all help certain people.

Questioner: My Teacher suggested that I spend more time in prayer and devotion, meditation. Can you give me any advice about this?

Yaum: I believe this to be an individual thing, as to how one would like to carry on his devotion. To do it in song is good. There is nothing better than songs of praise and joy to the Lord in devotional prayer and reading certain things that would seem to give you devotional inspiration. Things of this nature are about all that I could suggest in the way of devotion. One must follow his own feelings, in other words devotion is more or less releasing your feelings, is it not? Your feelings toward your God, your Creator. You must follow your own dictates. There are many ways that it can be done and I agree that it is important. I believe that there needs to be more of this. Not a devotion in a sad, long faced manner but in joy, in song that praises and glorifies God.

Questioner: Would you like to sing for us?

Yaum: Oh no, I can't carry a tune.

Questioner: Would you chant for us, Yaum?

Yaum: It is a little difficult to do under these circumstances.

Questioner: Do you think that Oxal meant that some of the Light workers might be brought together in the same geographical area?

Yaum: I do not believe that he was referring to this. I think that he may have been referring more to the Light workers coming together in force to do the work of the Light and in joining together in spirit. There have been many differences between the Light workers, they seem to have shunned each other. They do not seem to want to come together on common grounds. They say, "You are a Baptist or whatever. You're O.K., but we are better and we do not want to be associated with you spiritually."

The Light workers who have gathered together in certain locations. I do not see these things being of too great a value. It is going to require more of a joining together, an overall joining together of spiritual workers. Not so much coming together personally as coining together in mind, being willing to work together in a common cause. At times, in some cases it will be necessary to get together personally, but not en masse.

Questioner: Is there going to be a greater acceleration of spiritual work?

Yaum: Yes, there will be, it will have to be for this is necessary for this to happen. This will happen in all of your groups, your metaphysical, the Pentecostal and in all of them. There will be an upsurging. What we would like to see is a coming together of the minds in all of these groups.

Now, my friends, it has been my very great pleasure to spend this time with you. If I have been of any slight help to you I am happy. It has been my great pleasure to spend this time with you new people. I hope we shall meet again.

To each of you I extend my most sincere love and blessings. I ask the Great Ones to pour forth their love, their Light and their blessings on each of you. May each of you go forth this night filled with His love, that great Christ love and may that love grow in your hearts. Go in Peace, my friends. ☸
