Yaum: Good evening to you, my friends, I am Yaum.

It gives me great pleasure to come among you again and to enjoy your presence, your vibrations and to spend a few minutes with you.

More and more people of Earth are becoming aware of the tension in the world today, of the chaos that exists. Man is beginning to wonder where all this will lead, what will be the outcome? When he discusses this with his friends, he does not express his true feelings or his true fears, and fear is becoming more and more predominant in the minds of the masses as time passes. He sees your peoples leaders trying to come together in agreement, attempting to avoid complete disaster. He sees that among them there is so much distrust, hatred and greed that he wonders how any possible agreement can be reached in such an atmosphere. Of course, he is right, for in such an atmosphere it is impossible to reach a satisfactory agreement.

Within his heart he is beginning to realize that this is all wrong, that there must be some way in which there can be a meeting of the minds of man to solve his differences in peace and understanding. Where man can come together in some sort of way, to plan to live together without continually attempting to destroy one another. People all across the surface of planet Earth are searching within themselves, their minds, for some type of solution that could be the answer to these problems.

I mentioned to you at the beginning of your present year that this would be a very eventful year in the experience of man of Earth. Already you have seen some very unusual things come about in your weather conditions that have brought a great deal of discomfort to many of your people, a great deal of damage, but other events, too, are coming about. There will be events that will have great effect upon the political aspect of your planet.

Also, there will be a noticeable change starting this year in the minds of many of your people. Many of them are going to come into the realization of what has been said to you long ago. There will be a crossroads in their lives when a great decision must be made.

They are going to realize that they have reached a fork in the road; either they must go right or left. The events in the future in the next few years on planet Earth will be effected greatly by which choice people make, rather, how many choose the right path. Many have already made the choice. All of you here have done so, but there are still many who must make this choice, and as many make this choice—if he decides to travel the road of service to his fellow man, the road of justice, of understanding, of peace—he is going to find a new knowing opening within his own being.

The answers to his problems, to his fears, shall begin to become clear to him. For soon he will realize that if peace is to come to planet Earth, it must begin in the heart of man himself, each individual, and when enough people have found peace within their own beings, and only then, will peace reign supreme upon your planet.

Does this make sense to you, my friends? For how can man sit down around the conference table, discussing methods of peace when none of these beings, practically none, have peace within themselves. When peace does not exist in their own hearts, when each has a different conception, they will never agree on a solution to true peace.

There is so much being done for your peoples from those outside your race, from those from other planets and the hierarchies, but they cannot force peace into you, for it is already there, but only you, my friends, can find it, only you can go within your being to find this peace that is already there. Only you can cast out all of these misconceptions, idealism's and "isms" of all kinds and find the true you.

For, my friends, when you find this true you, you have found a great being, one who is capable of dealing with the great powers of the universe, the powers that are withheld from Earth people today because they have not found this peace, and, therefore, they are not capable of dealing with these things.

My beloved friends, find that true you. Start searching deep within the inner man with great sincerity, with great love, and you shall find him, my friends, for He is there, right there within your own heart.

It has been most invigorating to spend this time with you, my friends. I extend my appreciation to you for accepting me into your midst and to the hostess for accepting me also.

May the peace, the love and the understanding of the true great ones rest with each of you.

Peace be with you, my friends, Peace be with you. ☸
