Special: Greetings, beloved friends, in the light.

Beloved ones, have you recently taken inventory of yourself? Are you walking in as much light as you can create or are you walking with satisfaction in just what you have? Are you being ruled by self, are you bowing to the desires of the lower self or are you attuning yourself in harmony with the creative forces of what you call God? Are you serving your fellow man at every opportunity that you have or are you serving self? Would you be ready and willing to meet your Lord and savior were he to come today? Are you ready to have your Book of Life opened before you?

These are things, beloved ones, that should have special consideration in this day and age. Few of you Earth people are giving little, if any, consideration to these things. They are satisfied to live in the carnal vibration, thinking that all that is necessary is to satisfy their own needs and desires, the needs and the desires of the lower man. But I say to you beloved ones, when you are in tune with your Creator, with these great creative forces that have created and sustained all things, you have found a new life.

It is true that when you have chosen this path, you may be subject to great ridicule, abuse et cetera. But, in this state of consciousness these things have no effect upon your being. For those that are affected by these things are those who are expressing self, greed, lust, they see only through eyes of self. They hear only through ears of self. They see and hear not the beauty of the greater things, for these things are not for man who lives entirely in the carnal. When you have raised yourself above the carnal vibrations you find a whole new concept, a whole new state of consciousness that brings peace, love and beauty into your life.

Man of Earth, would that you could all realize the need in your life for these things. The time rapidly draws near when the Book of Life shall be opened, then each shall read for himself in his own Book of Life. Make yours a book of pleasant reading. The father waits with open arms to receive his children, regardless of how far they have gone astray. So, I say to you Earth man, come home, return to the father. He is waiting. He is watching the roadway that leads to home. Watching and waiting for his children to return, and he will receive each with open arms and place a royal robe upon each one.

May each of you find your light increasing day-by-day and may you soon be walking in a light so bright that it will affect and bring peace and joy to all who cross your path.

Peace be with you beloved ones.

Peace, Peace, Peace. ♣
